One man is dead and another is dying at Grady hospital following the crash between an automobile and street car early this morning on River road just past the Magnolia cemetery. The dead man is A. D. Polk, 25, who lived with Dr. John F. Beck, 71, the other victim, on Edison road.

According to the motorman of the one-man car which was involved in the crash, he was bringing his trolley back to the Ashby barns and was coasting down grade at a fair rate of speed when the car, which he said was driven by Polk, approached in the opposite direction. His first intimation of the crash came, he said, when the auto was less than half a car length away. It suddenly swerved to the side of the road on which the tracks are located, he stated, and the collision was head-on.

He jammed on his brakes, he said, but his speed was too great to allow checking the trolley. The impact was so great, he said, that it carried the automobile fully 50 feet down the track.

The auto was torn to bits and he found upon examination that the two men were wedged between the front trucks of the trolley and the wreck of the automobile. Polk was dead before aid could be summoned and his body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Blanchard Brothers, funeral directors.

Dr. Beck was rushed by a motorist to Grady hospital, where it was said that he was not expected to live through the night. In the impact, which threw him under the car, his body was badly mutilated and internal injuries are expected to cause his death.

In describing the accident, Motorman Ridsall said that as far as he could determine it was unavoidable and that the whole thing occurred so quickly that he was unable to give an accurate account of it.

From Burning House by Family Servant.

Narrowly escaping death, 14-year-old Miss Betsy Smith, convalescing from a recent operation, Tuesday was hastily removed by a family maid from the burning residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith, 150 Paces Ferry road, in a fire which practically destroyed the house and caused damage estimated at $20,000.

Miss Smith had recently been removed to her home from the hospital and was still in an invalid condition. Passersby about noon Tuesday noticed flames leaping from the second story of the house and immediately warned the occupants. The maid picked Miss Smith up in her arms and escaped with the other occupants, unharmed.

Miss Smith was removed to the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cushman, where other members of the family are being cared for.

The fire is said to have originated from defective wiring in the wall of an upstairs room. Fire engines were immediately sent to the fire, but the flames had gained such headway when they arrived that it was impossible to prevent serious damage to the house. The firemen were successful in preventing spreading of the flames to nearby houses.

Practically all of the furnishings of the residence were destroyed in the fire. The loss, estimated at $20,000, was fully covered by insurance, fire reports stated.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)
New York, November 8.—There were numerous and stout strings tied to the $500,000 gift Colonel Henry H. Rogers made to his daughter, Millicent, when she took for her second husband the Argentine, Arturo Peralta Ramos, yesterday.

The gift was in the form of a trust fund and the handsome Arturo and the romantic Millicent must live on the interest, under terms of the trust. The Standard Oil heiress, as well as her husband, were required to sign waivers to any and all future claims on the Rogers estate, estimated at $10,000,000.

Thus the bride's father insured himself against another such predicament as that in which he found himself when Millicent wanted to rid herself of the marital embrace of Count Salvi.

The interest from $500,000—about $20,000 a year—will be hardly more than pin money, compared to what Millicent has been used to. And there will be little or no help from the Ramos coffers, for reports from the Argentine are to the effect that they are very nearly empty. It was because of the family's financial straits that the gift was made.

Metter, Ga., November 8.—(AP)—Leo B. Dekle, tax commissioner of Candler county and probably the most prominent of the younger men of the section, met tragic death here tonight while returning from a dove hunt with a party of friends.

Accompanied by Mayor A. J. Byrd and a number of others, Mr. Dekle was coming out of a field of rank, swamp grass and underbrush when, in some way, his gun was discharged, taking the entire top of his head away. He lived about four hours, dying in the hospital at Metter at 10 o'clock tonight.

Lowly Office Chair Holds

SO THINKS DR. J. R. GARNER, ATLANTA SURGEON

Secret of Clerk's Efficiency

Does your chair fit you? At the top is graphically illustrated the "long and short" of Dr. J. R. Garner's theory that unsuitable chairs are at the bottom of all clerical inefficiency. Dr. Garner is shown below at the right.

The test of business efficiency does not lie in "psychology" or "morale," but in the very prosaic manner in which the clerical worker sits in his chair.

That's the opinion of Dr. J. R. Garner, widely-known Atlanta medico who is chief surgeon of the Atlanta and West Point, Western of Ala. and Georgia railroads.

Dr. Garner has just returned from the annual convention in Chicago of the American Association of Railway Surgeons, of which he is president and on whose executive board he is now a member.

Delivering the president's address on "Man Power" in the Illinois city a few days ago, Dr. Garner told the assembled rail surgeons that the fine-tune theories of efficiency experts regarding "mental hazards" and "psychological reactions" are "all wet."

"The secret of efficiency on the part of the railroads' vast army of employees who constitute our clerical forces and to whom little, if any, attention has heretofore been given," Dr. Garner said, "depends almost wholly upon how they sit at their desks."

Claims Poorly Designed.
"For one spending the largest part of the working day seated before a desk, the ordinary office chair is as unsuitable as would be a full-dress suit for swimming. Such chairs are con-

Washington, November 8.—(AP)—Jurors in the Fall-Sinclair criminal conspiracy trial were approached with improper questions within the shadow of the courthouse, two of them disclosed today as they became grand jury witnesses in the latest of the oil scandals.

Their startling statements led federal agents on the trail of the questioners, thus far men of mystery in a case which has furnished far more than a normal share of mysteries and sensations.

John Costinett, an elderly tailor, and Gardner P. Grenfeld, a young cable splicer, are the jurors who declared they had been questioned before a mistrial was ordered, both as to the probable outcome of the trial and as to whether the trial judge, Justice Frederick L. Siddons, was "on the square."

Identity Unknown.

From the descriptions they gave to District Attorney Jordan each was approached by a different man. Whether their interrogators were Burns detectives, whose activities abruptly ended the oil trial, is the immediate point the district attorney's office is seeking to clear up.

Grenfeld said he was approached by a stranger in a cigar store "secretly" across the street from the district of Columbia courthouse.

"There has been quite a busy morning in court?" was the question Grenfeld said the stranger used in opening up conversation.

"Yes," the juror said he replied.

Asked About Judge.

"What sort of fellow is Siddons; is he on the square?" was the next question put by the stranger, Grenfeld said.

"Yes; if he wasn't he could not hold the position he does," Grenfeld stated he answered, turning then and leaving the store.

The stranger was persistent, approaching the juror again on the street a few minutes later.

Sharp criticism of Harold Hirsch, chairman of the citizen's advisory committee supervising school expenditures and of city council and announcement that $1,750,000 worth of new school projects will be ready for contractors' bids within a few weeks featured a stormy session of the Atlanta board of education Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hirsch was criticised for the audit of the 1926 accounts of the board, which William D. Hoffman, commissioner from the eighth ward, branded as "worthless so far as an audit was concerned and merely a repetition of what we already knew." Mr. Hoffman's ire was kindled when W. H. James, auditor, submitted a bill for the balance of the bill he rendered the board for his services, amounting to $1,318.02.

The total amount of the James account was $3,779.64, of which the board has paid $2,500. Interest was placed at $28.38.

Charging that Mr. James acted without authority in "submitting to the board a political audit, designed to knock the educational system full of holes," Mr. Hoffman declared he would never pay the bill "so far as I am concerned." Mr. Hirsch was criticised because Mr. Hoffman said, the advisory committee head had recommended Mr. James for the work.

A committee composed of George Powell, D. M. Therrell and Dr. Eubanks will confer with Mr. Hirsch and B. Graham West, city comptroller, with a view of effecting a compromise.

Mr. Hoffman submitted a letter which he had written Mr. Hirsch relative to the James audit. It was read and filed. Mr. Hirsch declined to comment either on the letter or on action of the board Monday night, declaring "it is the board's business and I have nothing to say."

The letter which Mr. Hoffman sent Mr. Hirsch follows:

New York, November 8.—(AP)—Colonel C. Goebel, winner of the $25,000 first prize in the Dole Hawaiian race, announced today through Fred E. Hamlin, an associate, that he will shortly begin a 20-weeks' air tour of the country in his plane, the Woodward, following a conference with President Coolidge, Colonel Lindbergh, and other aviation officials at Washington next week.

Hamlin's statement said that while Colonel Lindbergh was a pioneer in advocating landing fields and airports, Colonel Goebel would emphasize the importance of radio beacons. He attributed the success of the winner in the Hawaiian flight to the fact that he followed an undeviated course through fog, guided by the radio beacons, which are a recent development of the army signal corps, he said.

Goebel's route on his nation-wide tour will carry him from Washington to Baltimore, Philadelphia, back south to Atlanta, Memphis, Birmingham, Montgomery and New Orleans, and on through the south and middle west to the Pacific coast. The flyer will then come back across the United States approximately to his starting point.

Hamlin announced that details of the tour are in his hands. He said that the flight is financed by "individuals who prefer to remain anonymous at this time."

Youth will be served, or rather, youth must be recognized when it comes to the modern day athletics and that fact was clearly proven Tuesday afternoon on the indoor track of the local Y. M. C. A., when Nick Tuntas, 50, proprietor of the Arcade restaurant, outran his youthful opponent, W. L. Randall, 66, president of the Randall Brothers Coal company, in a mile race.

The stakes in the race, in addition to all of its glory, was a $1 bill, which went into the community chest fund and which was paid by Mr. Randall.

Some time ago members of the C. B. Class, consisting of Gus Dodd, director; W. L. Randall, A. L. Wine-coff and Lew Adler, all prominent business men in the city, who had been going about their daily workouts in the physical department of the "Y," met Nick Tuntas, who likewise was taking his "daily doze."

Mr. Randall laughingly remarked one afternoon after Mr. Tuntas had jogged around the track ten times, that he should not be blowing and putting after such a little run and naturally that started a friendly argument that grew in leaps and bounds as well as verbal heights.

Finally Mr. Tuntas and Mr. Randall agreed to run around the track 28 times, completing a mile, and it was further agreed that Mr. Randall was to follow Mr. Tuntas or else pay the community chest the said sum of $1.

Officials of the race were appointed with L. H. Cunningham, physical director of the "Y," as referee, Dr. T. C. Davidson, prominent local surgeon and physician, as the expert physician and examiner before the race, and J. M. Hendley, assistant physical director, as starter and timer. The race was set for Tuesday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock and officials and plenty of backers for each side were present to make up a gallery of nearly 50 persons.

Both "youths" started off in regular college style, but the pace was not so fast with Mr. Tuntas leading the way as per the contract. J. E. Barton, of 352 Fair street, S. W., was shot in the left hip by his niece, Lena Evans, 19, of the same address early Thursday night following a family quarrel. The girl immediately surrendered to police headquarters, where in a statement to officials she said that her uncle had been drinking and had threatened the life of her aunt and herself.

The girl stated that she had returned with her aunt and Mrs. Della Roper from the Davis-Fischer hospital, where they had visited an acquaintance. Accompanying them was Julian Fortune, a friend of the girl's. Upon arriving at the house, Mrs. Barton and Mrs. Roper entered and Fortune and the girl remained in the car. When, after a few minutes she followed the two older women into the house, Fortune remaining in the car, she discovered in the course of an argument that her uncle had been drinking. He threatened her at this time, she said, and she escaped by running out of the house. She and Fortune then went riding, she stated.

Upon returning she found that her uncle had her aunt on the floor and was choking her, she asserted. When the girl attempted to interfere, he turned his attentions to her and she fled into her bedroom and secured her pistol, she claimed. When she returned to her room, she ran into the street calling for Fortune, who was waiting in the car, she said. Her uncle followed her to the street and she called to him to stop. When he failed to do so, she said, she fired three times at him, one shot taking effect in the left hip.

Barton fell to the street and the girl went into the house and called a Grady ambulance, she said. He was carried into the house by Fortune and Mrs. Barton. She then surrendered to the police with Fortune.

While Barton's condition is not considered serious at Grady, the girl was detained at the station for the night. Fortune was released.

BY UNITED NEWS.

Two murders in the Kentucky hills country, a close race for the governorship in that state and the victory of important proposals endorsed by Governor Al Smith in New York marked the results of an otherwise dull off-year election in several states Tuesday.

Friends of Smith claimed to see a significant portent in his victory in New York, some viewing it as a test of his strength as a possible candidate for president next year.

Returns, mostly from the New York city area which is predominantly democratic, indicated that the proposed constitutional amendment number six, which would increase the term of governor to four years and make the election fall on presidential years, was defeated. Governor Smith had strenuously opposed that proposal.

Greater New York voted in favor of proposed amendment number two which would make an additional $300,000,000 available for subways. That was a Smith-Tampmany proposal. Early returns indicated the republicans would retain their majority in the New York assembly.

Wet Mayor Leads.

In Detroit, one of the centers of political interest, Mayor John W. Smith and John C. Lodge were waging a close battle for the mayoralty with Smith leading by several thousand votes. Smith is an opponent of the Anti-Saloon league and the reform element and he has taken a stand against enforcement of the prohibition laws. Lodge, a conservative, has taken the position the office must seek the man, and has made no speeches during the campaign. He is an uncle of Colonel Charles Lindbergh.

In Kentucky, where the issue was gambling at race tracks, late tabulations indicated a victory for Judge Flem D. Sampson, the republican gubernatorial candidate. His opponent was J. C. W. Beckham, democrat and opponent of gambling.

In Mississippi, former Governor Theodore G. Bilbo, democrat, who broke with the Ku Klux Klan when he refused to support Al Smith for the presidential nomination, was elected governor.

Atlanta Couple Married

LARGE ATTENDANCE IS NOTED AT AUDITORIUM

Before Food Show Crowd

In the presence of a large crowd of spectators, A. V. Browning, prominent young Atlanta business man and Miss Helen Eberhardt were married Tuesday night in a public ceremony at the city auditorium as the feature of the night's program of the Pure Food show, now in progress in the auditorium. The marriage service was read by Rev. Henry B. Mays, pastor of the Inman Park Methodist church. The couple plans to make their home in Decatur within the next few weeks.

Nearly 100 booths are incorporated in the show, which takes the capacity of the auditorium. Untold numbers of new food products and new ways of preparing older foods are demonstrated and it is one of the chief purposes of the show to render service to housewives of Atlanta by showing them how they can improve their daily menus, both in appetizing features and in healthiness.

Sponsored by Food Dealers. The show is sponsored by the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association and the City Salesmen's association and both organizations have worked hard and patiently to achieve the success it has met.

Daily cooking schools classes are held on the stage under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Merritts, one of the city's best known home cooking experts, while the home economics classes of the various high schools, under the supervision of Miss Clara Lee Stone and other teachers, are giving demonstrations in food preparation each afternoon.

John T. Lee and his orchestra are giving programs each afternoon and night. Vandeville acts and other forms of entertainment are provided.

Free Food Samples. Many of the booths are adding much to the lure of the exhibition by the dainty samples of prepared foods and drinks they are giving away. While the attendance for the first two days was even larger than had been anticipated, it is expected that the crowds will grow in number daily throughout the week, as the excellence of the exhibition is spread through the city by word of mouth.

Today will be Grocers' day, with special attractions afternoon and evening while Thursday has been designated as Clubwomen's day.

representative citizens not connected with politics in the election of mayor, council frequently withdrew into executive sessions only to reappear deadlocked on the next ballot as badly as ever. Names of a score of hopefuls were presented in the course of the balloting, and Slack was not nominated until after the 31st ballot.

Last year Slack was one of six candidates for the democratic nomination to oppose James E. Watson for the senior Indiana seat in the United States. He was district attorney from 1916 to 1920 and has appeared, in some instances, as an attorney for the Klan in its frequent legal tangles in Indiana.

Indianapolis' last democratic mayoralty victory was in 1914. In 1918 the city returned to the republican fold as the state did in 1920. Slack will fill Duval's unexpected term, which ends January 1, 1939. He will be the last mayor of Indianapolis as the city manager form of government voted last May will take effect when the present mayoralty term expires.

AL SMITH WINS

NEW YORK VICTORY

Senator-elect William S. Vare and his republican organization, was elected mayor over J. Hampton Moore, independent.

Ohio appeared to have defeated the famous Marshall bill, which allows justices of the peace to collect a percentage of fines levied against liquor law violators. The Cleveland referendum on its present city manager plan of government remained undecided at a late hour Thursday night with both sides claiming victory.

The country's outstanding woman candidate, 24-year-old Gwendolyn Jones, the university graduate who thought she could out a former cop from the mayor's chair in Concord, N. H., failed to do so. Mayor Fred N. Marden, the former policeman, was reelected.

VIRGINIA APPROVES THREE AMENDMENTS. Richmond, Va., November 8.—(AP) Incomplete returns from widely scattered sections of the Old Dominion as compiled by the Times Dispatch tonight indicated that the voters of Virginia have elected virtually all the 140 democratic nominees to the general assembly, most of whom were unopposed.

The compilation as made by this paper also indicated that the three proposed constitutional amendments voted on today had received popular approval.

They are: exempting wives and widows of veterans of the war between the states from payment of poll taxes as a prerequisite for the franchise; permitting counties with a population greater than 500 inhabitants per square mile to assess property of abutting land owners for public improvement (applicable only to Arlington county); fixing the appropriation year of the state to coincide with the fiscal year.

CITY MANAGER FORM AHEAD IN CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, Ohio, November 8.—(AP) A slight margin against the charter amendment sponsored by former Governor Harry L. Davis to abolish Cleveland's city manager government was indicated in unofficial returns from about two-thirds of the city's 792 precincts tonight.

The Davis amendment would authorize a special election in January for choice of a mayor. It appeared likely that the final result would not be known until official returns from all precincts are available.

The vote on the amendment in 480 precincts was: For, 47,370; against, 48,741. Cleveland was the first big city in the country to experiment with the city manager government, which has been in operation here for about five years. Davis' campaign to throw out the system aroused more interest in the "off-year" election than ever was apparent before.

PASTOR ELECTED CHIEF OF POLICE.

Glenn Cove, L. J., November 8.—(United News.)—The Rev. John W. Gammon, an ordained Episcopal minister, was elected head of the police and fire departments today when the republicans made a clean sweep of the local offices. His title will be commissioner of public safety. William H. Senman was reelected mayor.

JAMES BECK ELECTED MEMBER OF CONGRESS.

NEW YORK TO ISSUE $300,000,000 BONDS.

New York, November 8.—(AP) Mayor James J. Walker tonight declared that the heavy vote polled in favor of the constitution amendment providing for an extension of the city debt limits to permit the issuance of $300,000,000 of sub-way bonds would enable him to keep his platform pledges to improve transit conditions.

MAYOR ROLPH LEADS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

San Francisco, November 8.—(AP) Early returns on the San Francisco mayoralty election today gave Mayor James Rolph, Jr., a slight lead over James E. Power, former postmaster here, who resigned to run against Rolph. Returns from ten precincts: Rolph, 841; Power, 714. Three men were taken into custody during the day following charges that an election machine had been opened for the benefit of gamblers.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE DEFEATED IN OHIO.

Columbus, Ohio, November 8.—(AP) The Anti-Saloon league of Ohio, master on all prohibition questions in this state for many years, apparently suffered a stinging defeat in today's state-wide elections.

Throwing its entire support for the Marshall bill which would place justices of the peace on a fee salary basis and thereby imbue those inferior courts with authority to hear and decide cases involving infraction of the prohibition laws, the league apparently failed to rally the support it has had in former battles.

The measure, submitted to referendum after being put through the state legislature by dry forces, stood with a majority of 157,000 votes against it in virtually one-half the state's voting precincts. The vote in 4,301 precincts out of a total of 8,721 in the state was: For the bill, 219,118; against, 386,168.

HARRY MACKAY HOLDS LEAD OF 109,561.

Philadelphia, November 8.—(AP) Returns from 820 election districts, more than half the city, gave Harry A. Mackay, republican organization candidate for mayor, a lead of 109,561 over J. Hampton Moore, independent citizens party, in today's municipal election. The figures were Mackay, 163,497; Moore, 53,936.

Mackay was approximately 24,000 ahead of his vote in the September primary when he defeated Moore for the republican nomination. Moore was running about 17,000 behind his own primary vote.

C. E. HANCOCK ELECTED MEMBER OF CONGRESS.

Sarasota, N. Y., November 8.—(AP) Clarence E. Hancock, republican, today was elected to serve the unexpired term of the late Walter W. Magee, as United States representative from the 25th congressional district.

WILLIAM T. JACKSON LEADS TOLEDO RACE.

Toledo, Ohio, November 8.—(AP) William T. Jackson, running to vindicate his record as former service director of Toledo, has apparently been elected mayor, half the city's precincts showing him to have a 3,000 lead over William B. Guiteau, present service director, with Grant North-up trailing.

COACH OF PRINCETON REELECTED COUNCILMAN.

Philadelphia, November 8.—(AP) William W. Roper, head coach of the Princeton football team, today was reelected a city councilman for a four-year term at $5,000 a year for his third term.

SAMPSON LEADING RACE IN KENTUCKY.

Louisville, November 9.—(AP) The Louisville Courier-Journal early today credited Flem D. Sampson, republican nominee for governor, with a majority of 4,000 votes over the democratic nominee, J. C. W. Beckham, on the face of incomplete returns from 3,441 precincts in the state. The vote, as tabulated by the Courier-Journal, showed Sampson leading Beckham by 323,885; Beckham 319,815.

Beckham had opposed the pari-mutuel betting system long in vogue in Kentucky, while Sampson had contended it was not an issue. And the effects of this appeared to be shown in the returns, for all the racing centers in the state went republican. Democratic strength normally lies in the western and central parts of Kentucky, while the mountains of eastern Kentucky are strongly republican.

Returns from the mountain counties still were scattering when Sampson took his lead and his supporters said that as more mountain counties reported his majority would continue to grow.

CONGREGATIONAL MEET DISCUSSES SOUTH'S PROBLEMS

Problems affecting the southern churches, school and colleges of the Congregational church featured the opening session of the annual conference of the advisory board for the southeast Tuesday at the Central Congregational church in Atlanta.

Another important phase of the work brought up Tuesday and scheduled to be discussed at the final session today deals with the development of the nine educational institutions being supported by Congregational churches of the southeast. Ministers and lay church leaders from seven states are among those attending the conference.

Speakers who figure prominently in the discussions include the Rev. Arthur J. Omer, visiting missionary from Mount Salinda, South Africa; the Rev. W. Knighton Bloom, of Washington; the Rev. Robert Loring of Boston; the Rev. E. F. Essminger, Rev. Neil McQuarrie, Rev. John L. Stapleton and the Rev. D. Witherspoon Dodge, pastor of the Central Congregational church.

DETROIT MAYOR CONTEST IN DOUBT

Detroit, November 8.—(AP) John C. Lodge, drafted candidate, began cutting down the big lead rolled up by Mayor John W. Smith, wet standard bearer, in today's non-partisan mayoral election, as returns began pouring in from the outlying residential district, shortly after midnight. At that time returns unofficially tabulated by the Detroit Free Press gave Smith 52,387; Lodge 50,129.

At the same time republican headquarters tabulating returns at the city hall claimed Lodge has assumed the lead on the face of returns from 482 precincts received there. The city hall figures gave Lodge 51,900; Smith 51,200.

Returns from about one-fifth of the total precincts in the city gave Smith a lead of more than 5,000 votes.

Supporters of Lodge, who refused to make a campaign in line with his views that an officeholder should not "urge" himself on the electorate, were confident late returns would switch the lead to their candidate. They maintained that most of the Lodge strongholds were yet to be heard from.

Smith's supporters were jubilant over his early showing and pointed to heavy majorities in districts where he was expected to show least strength. They predicted final figures would show a big pile-up for Smith.

Smith based his appeal for reelection on a program of liberality in regard to enforcement of the prohibition law. His flat "wet" pronouncement was made after he had trailed Lodge in the primary contest by approximately 20,000 votes.

Smith declared his primary showing resulted from covert activities of the Anti-Saloon league and other dry organizations and asserted his willingness to stand or fall on a policy of opposition of the liquor law.

Lodge, who has held public office over a 25-year period, declined to enter into a campaign fight, a stand he has maintained throughout his political career. He was drafted in the present contest and did not make a campaign speech nor issue a written appeal. His supporters were reluctant to accept the liquor question as an issue and pointed out that Lodge had never publicly endorsed the dry movement.

RUTH ELDER FACES CAMERA ON STEAMER

Aboard S. S. Aquitania, November 8.—(By Radio to United News.)—Ruth Elder broke into the movies today.

While she and George Haldeman, her co-pilot on their trans-Atlantic venture, were playing shuffle board and other deck games on the steamer, which is bringing them back to New York, the ship's camera ground out some action films.

Later, as Miss Elder sat in a steamer chair reading the ship's newspaper, the camera went to work again.

Madame Wu Freed.

Tientsin, China, November 8.—(AP) Madame C. C. Wu, wife of the Nan-king nationalist foreign minister, who has been held in prison here for almost a month, was released this morning. Madame Wu, against whom no charges were ever made, will sail for Shanghai on the next ship.

Try This Before Making Engine Repairs

CHECK the ignition and look the spark plugs over whenever the engine falls short of the fine performance that it once had. Many times expensive repair bills are incurred when all that was needed was a new set of spark plugs. A spark plug in time deteriorates, and needs to be replaced.

When you buy spark plugs, be sure to insist on AC—the make on which Lindbergh, Byrd and other great flyers staked out their lives.

You, too, can have the same spark plugs. The Standard Spark Plug of the World.

AL SMITH SCORES ANOTHER VICTORY

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, November 9.—The democratic party scored another signal triumph in yesterday's off-year election.

With interest running high in the campaign chiefly because of Governor Al Smith's program—he actively favored all but one of the dozen proposed constitutional amendments put up by voters—a heavy vote was cast throughout the state, but more particularly in New York and the other large cities.

The one amendment proposal the 1928 democratic presidential aspirant vigorously opposed was number 6, to provide a four-year term for governor and members of the state senate, and two-year terms for assemblymen. This would make the election of New York's governor and state senators concurrent with presidential elections.

It appeared from returns up to midnight from all sections of the state that the vote by which it was defeated might be almost as impressive as that by which the prohibition referendum was carried a year ago. The vote in New York city against it was about 4 to 1. Upstate returns showed the electors there also registering against it but much less decisively.

The proposition embodying Mayor Walker's plans for New York city housing relief was carried by a tremendous majority.

New York city registered so heavily in favor of amendment number 2, to authorize a $300,000,000 bond issue for additional New York city subways, that it seemed surely carried, despite upstate opposition.

The city's vote at a 6 to 1 ratio for increasing the governor's salary to $25,000 also seemed certain to overthrow the vote against it in the rural districts.

Other amendments, on the face of returns up to an early hour this morning, appeared assured of being swept through by the momentum of the returns which the electors were chiefly interested in.

REPUBLICANS KEEP HOLD IN NEW JERSEY.

Newark, N. J., November 8.—(AP) Early reports from Essex county that republican candidates for the assembly were leading their democratic opponents indicated that the republicans would retain their control of the state legislature.

The proposed bond issue of $20,000,000 for highway development in conjunction with the tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline, which was authorized by the last legislature, did not make a commanding lead in the early voting. The vote in 604 districts of 2,876, without any returns from Hudson county, which was expected to support the proposal, was 10,563 for and 32,138 against.

TATGENHORST WINS IN CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, November 8.—(AP) Charles G. Tatgenhorst, Jr., regular republican, was conceded to be the victor by Cincinnati newspapers in the second congressional district election to succeed the late A. E. Stephens, who died.

Two hundred second district precincts out of 325, gave Tatgenhorst 20,383 votes, John C. Dempsey, democrat, 12,720 and Harry H. Shaffer, independent republican, 9,590.

ARREST OF BOYS SOLVES MURDER

St. Louis, November 8.—(AP) The brutal robbery and murder of an aged woman recluse of Zwingle, Iowa, was solved here late today, police believed, with the arrest of two nattily-dressed youths who said they were Leonard Cota, 18, of Bennettsville, Iowa, and Harold Kramer, 19, of Great Falls, Mont.

Police found $27,000 in cash and a large amount in securities in their hotel room.

The youths admitted, police said, that they slugged, bound and gagged a Mrs. McKittrick, 73, Cota's grandmother, and robbed her of the cash and securities the night of November 1.

Word was received from police at Dubuque, Iowa, that Mrs. McKittrick was found strangled to death in her cottage at Zwingle, near there, and her grandmother, Cota, was suspected, as he disappeared after the crime.

Cota said his grandmother was breathing when he left her. Pending further questioning, police did not apprise the youths that Mrs. McKittrick is dead.

According to the confessions, Cota and Kramer planned to rob the woman after the chance discovery by Cota three months ago that his grandmother had a fortune hid in her cottage.

"I sent for Kramer to help me with the robbery," Cota said. "I bought a second-hand automobile for $25. On the night of November 1 Kramer and I drove to my grandmother's cottage, which is on the outskirts of Zwingle. I knocked on the door and said, 'Grandmother, this is Leonard.' My grandmother was almost blind. She said, 'I don't know whether it is you or not, but I'll let you in.' She opened the door and I grabbed her."

"I said, 'You're a miser. You've got lots of money. Why don't you burn electric lights instead of candles? The light line runs right by your door.' I slugged her and she fell to the floor. Kramer and I had brought towels with us. We had brought three suit cases to put the money in."

"We found the money in bureau drawers, tied up in packages. We didn't stop to count it. We went over to her to see if she was breathing. She was breathing, so we left. We got in the car and drove to Dubuque. We got there about 2 o'clock in the morning."

America Delays Signing of Trade Relation Treaty

Geneva, Switzerland, November 8.—(AP) The United States, represented by Hugh R. Wilson, American minister to Switzerland, has not signed the convention for the abolition of prohibitions and restrictions on exportation and importation, which has been adopted by the international conference.

Nineteen other countries signed the convention today and Wilson explained that before reaching a final decision regarding signature, the text of the convention would be submitted to the various branches of the United States government.

These countries signed: Germany, Austria, Belgium, Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Bulgaria, Denmark, Egypt, France, Finland, Italy, Hungary, Japan, Holland, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Siam, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia.

The president of the conference, M.

Colyn, ex-premier of the Netherlands, admitted that the convention left something to be desired, because of prohibitions maintained by various countries. However, he emphasized that the document marked a great step in the development of international relations, as it was the first multilateral treaty ever negotiated regulating commercial relations between nations.

Love Letters of Judge, 70, Bring Reply In $105,000 Suit

Love letters admitted writing to a married woman who wished to "make somebody jealous" resulted in the filing of a $105,000 alienation of affections suit in Somerset county today against Judge John A. Frech, 70, of the court of common pleas of that county. The judge tonight declared the suit is "a frame-up."

William Ward Brougham, 40, a world war veteran of White House, N. J., husband of Mrs. Elena V. Brougham, filed suit. He asks for $50,000 for loss of society, comfort and affections of Mrs. Brougham, $5,000 for physical suffering and medical attention, and $50,000 for the loss of the esteem and affection of friends.

News of the filing of the action amazed residents of Somerset county. Judge Frech, who was appointed to the bench by Governor Moore a year ago, has practiced law in the county for half a century and was widely respected.

Judge Frech, asserting "there is nothing to it," admitted, however, that he had written "some letters" on his own stationery to Mrs. Brougham, but explained this was done professionally at the request of the woman, who had told him she desired to arouse envy in someone—just whom the aged jurist would not say. He denied knowing the present whereabouts of Mrs. Brougham.

The trouble started when I presented a bill for legal services to Brougham, who owned a small farm, said the judge, tonight. "I did some legal work for him before I was appointed judge. I sent him a bill, but no attention was paid to it, and then I pressed him for payment. He said something about making me pay. I told him he was welcome to try, as I had nothing to fear. Then he sent a lawyer to see me. I told this lawyer I had nothing to fear from Brougham or anybody else."

Judge Frech refused to make known the contents of the letters. They are attached to the papers in the action. Judge Frech's wife died about a year ago. They were childless. He met Mrs. Brougham for the first time about five years ago when he represented her and her husband in real estate transactions, townfolk in White House said. He resides in Somerville, New Jersey.

OCEAN POSTAL PLANES PLANNED BY BLERIOT

BY RALPH HEINZEN.

Paris, November 8.—(Copyright, 1927, by United News.)—A definite far-seeing plan for trans-Atlantic aerial postal and passenger service from Paris to New York was announced today by Louis Blériot, the first man to fly the English channel and one of the leading European manufacturers of aircraft.

Within a year, Blériot said, he will inaugurate an experimental aerial postal service from the French capital to New York. This trial service will continue for three or four years, he said. By that time, Blériot believes, technical developments will permit regular trans-Atlantic passenger service.

Blériot's reputation adds considerable weight to a carefully considered plan which he outlined to the United News as follows:

"Both the possibilities and the difficulties of trans-Atlantic flight are evident. The main attempt of the past summer have led to the conclusion that it is a harder problem to fly west than east."

"I expect to overcome these difficulties by choosing a route by way of the Azores, stopping there."

"Secondly, I will use multi-motored planes. I have a small circle of friends at dinner."

The bride, her father and her cousin, Mrs. Newell Tilton, were today in Southampton.

On the occasion of Dr. Garner's retirement as president of the American Association of Railway Surgeons in Chicago last week he was elected to membership on the association's executive board and also was chosen to head the National Association of Railway Chief Surgeons. Dr. H. M. Michel, of Augusta, surgeon for the Georgia railroad in that city and a member of the faculty of the University of Georgia medical department, was elected vice president of the American Association of Railway Surgeons.

Young Arturo was noted for his dancing as well as for his spending in the Paris cafes and his female admirers there were legion. He has told of his meeting with Millcent there in the only interview granted since he followed her to New York—an interview given to a friend who is an American correspondent for an Argentine newspaper.

"I am a personal friend of Count Salm," he said, according to the correspondent. "I met him and his wife in a cafe, and he introduced her to me. We met several times at affairs in the Argentine colony there. Last winter, after their divorce, Miss Rogers was in St. Moritz during the season there and I was fortunate enough to win several of the skiing events."

"Later when we had returned to Paris we became engaged and decided to be married here in the states. I requested a Catholic marriage and Miss Rogers agreed. As far as her being a Catholic is concerned, I left that entirely up to her."

"The Rogers family has been very nice and I am very much pleased with them."

"We plan to sail for Chile that we can cross the Andes and before reaching Buenos Aires can visit my father's estancia, between Mendoza and the province of Buenos Aires. After a long honeymoon we will probably settle in Paris."

A civil marriage is planned for Buenos Aires when they arrive. The Argentine government does not recognize divorce and a marriage in a foreign country following the divorce of either member is officially recognized only after the Argentine federal court issues a decree annulling the first marriage and the couple have been rewed there by civil ceremony.

Millcent and Arturo will take with them little Peter Salm, her son by her first marriage, when they sail on the Greece liner Santa Elisa. They had the boy with them today at the new Rogers hunting lodge at North Sea, near Southampton, L. I., where

I. W. W. LEADERS BATTLE POLICE

Walsenburg, Colo., November 8.—(United News.)—Revolver butts, chains, bricks and fists were used this afternoon in a free-for-all battle that broke out in the I. W. W. headquarters here when state police clashed with striking coal miners.

A squad of officers led by Major W. Q. Howell went to the hall to arrest an I. W. W. leader. More than 200 strikers closed in on the officers after they had entered the organization headquarters.

"There won't be any arrests today," shouted a radical leader, and the fight started.

Major Howell was seriously injured when struck on the head with a shovel. Three other state policemen were hurt and several strikers had bloody faces when 20 reserve policemen invaded the hall and restored order.

Despite the show of resistance on the part of the I. W. W. strikers, which reached a climax in the riot here, the strike seemed at its most ineffectual stage since its start three weeks ago.

With all national leaders of the I. W. W. in jails at Pueblo, Trinidad and here, and no picketing going on in Las Animas or Huerfano counties, miners returned to work in large numbers.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron company announced that 1,042 coal diggers, or 75 per cent of the firm's nominal number of employees, were at work.

The strike, concerned with demands for a $7.75 per day wage scale, was still effective in the northern fields, however.

Fall Will Start For New Mexico Home This Week

Washington, November 8.—(AP)—Albert B. Fall will be able to start for his home in New Mexico late this week, barring a relapse, his physicians announced today after a consultation.

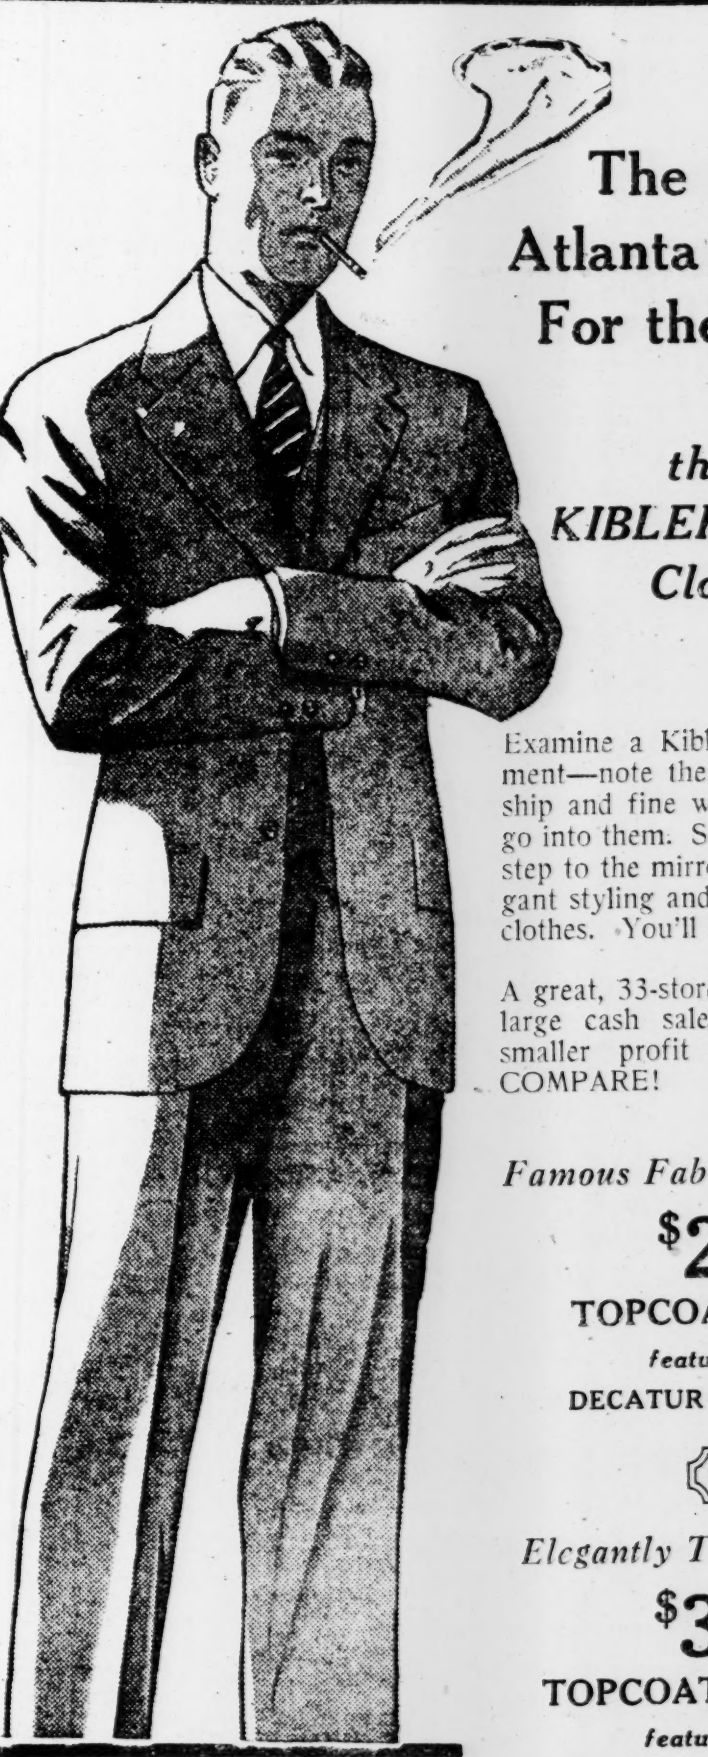

The former interior secretary, confined to bed with congestion of the lungs since last Friday has "markedly recovered," they said. It is deemed advisable for him to return to a warmer climate as soon as possible.

Mrs. Fall and her two daughters are planning to leave as soon as doctors give the final word. They believe Fall's illness resulted from the strain of court procedure in which he was a defendant with Harry F. Sinclair, which recently ended in a mistrial. "I never saw him so feeble in all my life as he was during the trial," said Mrs. C. C. Chase today.

Rains, Warmer Weather Today Is Predicted

Light rains will continue to fall today in Atlanta and the northern portion of Georgia, according to C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist of the local government station. Rising temperatures will accompany the precipitation, which is not expected to exceed one inch.

The temperature range Tuesday was 42 to 50 degrees. The fluctuations today are predicted to vary from 50 to 55 degrees.

BOYD CONTEMPT ACTION DISMISSED

Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, Tuesday afternoon dismissed a petition brought by P. P. Jackson, Atlanta loan broker, against L. R. Boyd, general counsel for the Atlanta Legal Aid society, requesting that Boyd be adjudged in contempt of court.

Several months ago Jackson filed a petition for injunction against Boyd and others who were sponsoring a drive against so-called "loan sharks" of the city to restrain the society from distributing a circular alleged to be damaging to the brokers. Judge John D. Humphries granted the injunction.

Some time later J. E. Goodwin wrote a booklet dealing with the alleged operation of the so-called "loan sharks" in Atlanta and distributed the pamphlet. The brokers contended that the pamphlet was distributed by Boyd and others and was a violation of the injunction.

Judge Thomas ruled that Mr. Boyd had nothing to do with the booklet and consequently that the injunction offered by attorneys for the brokers showed no indication of litigation. The court dismissed the petition and permitted the plaintiff's attorneys to withdraw the same.

U. S. Trade Commissioner To Address Fertilizer Men

Cooperation with federal and state agricultural workers through the soil improvement committee of the National Fertilizer association, and development of better business conditions within the industry through the medium of the code of trade practices, were cited as the two major objects of the fertilizer organization by E. L. Robins, Meridian, Miss., national president, in his address Tuesday at the opening meeting of the association's third annual southern convention.

Mr. Robins was followed at the morning session, held in the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, by J. C. Pridmore, of Atlanta, director of the southern division, who called attention to the necessity of farmers in the southeast raising cotton more economically if they are to survive in the competition with cotton raisers of Texas and Oklahoma. Mr. Pridmore stated that while the increase of cotton acreage in the sections to the west would not be more than three or four million acres in the next few years, competition is already so great that the southwestern grower must reduce his expenses by producing more per acre.

Winding up of the convention today will witness addresses by Dr. R.

W. Kilgore, chairman board of trustees, American Cotton Growers' Exchange, Raleigh, N. C., who was scheduled to speak Tuesday but did not arrive on time, and Abram F. Myers, federal trade commissioner, of Washington, who will present first-hand information on the activities of that governmental body. Dr. Kilgore in his talk is expected to scrutinize the failure of the government to enact satisfactory farm relief measures. He will discuss the McNary-Haugen bill, which passed the 69th congress, but was vetoed by President Coolidge, and will outline the possibilities of stabilized agriculture.

The theme of the address for today will center around "Better Trade Practices and Better Selling." Other speakers listed include H. R. Smalley, director, northern division, soil improvement committee; Christie Bent, general counsel, Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' association; Charles H. MacDowell, William M. Williams, Daniel Bangh Brewster, John J. Watson, A. D. Stroblar, Horace Bowler, J. Ross Hanahan, C. F. Burroughs, Spencer L. Carter and Charles J. Brand.

Eugene Talmadge, Georgia commissioner of agriculture, discussed the uses of fertilizer in the south at the Tuesday session. An address on the extension program of the N. V. potash export—N. V. in the south, was offered by J. N. Harper, of Atlanta, codirector of the agricultural and scientific bureau, "Your Association's Work" was the title of the address delivered by Charles J. Brand, executive secretary and treasurer of the National Fertilizer association, who is in charge of the convention here.

A colorful note of the convention was struck with the dinner Tuesday night at the Atlanta Athletic club, tendered by the Ashcraft-Wilkinson firm to officers of the National association. Mel Wilkinson acted as toastmaster.

TWO WEST POINT VACANCIES EXIST FROM GEORGIA

Of 206 vacancies yet to be filled in the 1932 class of the United States Military academy, which is to enroll in July of 1928, there are 27 in the Fourth Corps area, area headquarters announced Tuesday.

The vacancies are in seven of the eight states comprising the Fourth Corps area, Florida alone having filled its quota.

In Georgia, congressmen of the seventh and tenth districts have each one vacancy to fill.

In addition, 35 vacancies exist over the United States, especially for young men whose fathers were killed in battle during the world war. Forty such vacancies were created by special act of congress in 1926 and but five have been filled for the next West Point class. Applications for these vacancies should be by letter, addressed to the adjutant general of the army, showing the full name, date of birth and address of the applicant, together with the name, rank and organization of his father and a statement showing time and cause of the latter's death. If the applicant's father was an enlisted man his serial number should also be given.

All applicants for vacancies must be between 17 and 22 years of age and physically qualified for entrance examination which will take place in March of 1928.

YOUTH HELD UNDER BOND ON CHARGES OF STEALING AUTO

Captured here while on his way to Detroit in an automobile alleged to have been stolen in Orlando, Fla., Burton J. W. Waite, 16, was bound over to the federal grand jury Tuesday by United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter under a $500 bond.

Young Waite told the court he had exchanged tags with a machine at Watrous after making off with a car belonging to his former employer, Oliver J. Bailey, of Orlando. When he was apprehended by local police a few days ago, both Waite and a companion, George F. Van Antwerp, were asleep in the automobile, which was out of gasoline.

STATE HAS $300,000 BALANCE FOR QUARTER

Georgia's receipts for the third quarter of 1927 were $300,000 greater than expenses for the same period, according to figures compiled at the office of General William A. Wright, state comptroller, by W. B. Harrison, chief clerk.

Receipts for the quarter amounted to $5,101,825, while disbursements totaled $4,801,825. The increase was reported to Governor Hardman Tuesday.

UNIVERSITY DAY PLANS COMPLETE

Athens, Ga., November 8.—(AP)—Observance of University day by alumni and friends of the University of Georgia will take place throughout the state and nation on November 29, Thomas S. Gary, Jr., secretary of the Georgia Alumni society, and editor of the Georgia Alumni Record, has announced.

A special program is to be broadcast from the University of Georgia over WSB, Atlanta, Journal radio broadcasting station, which has a branch at the Athens institution. Chancellor Charles M. Snelling and Dr. Frank K. Boland, Atlanta president of the Georgia Alumni society, will be the principal speakers. The program is to begin at 8 o'clock, eastern standard time, and other features of the evening which will be broadcast are late musical hits by the Georgia Four, and a novelty guitar number by Luke Staniel, leader of the orchestra.

Throughout the state alumni will gather for University day banquets and smokers. Mr. Gary said, and a number of these groups already have made plans for tuning in on the radio program to be broadcast from Athens.

Alumni of the university in New York city, Miami, West Palm Beach, Chicago, Washington and many other cities will assemble, Mr. Gary said, adding that his correspondence indicates that University day will be more widely observed this year than ever before.

MAIL INSPECTORS MEET AT INFORMAL DINNER

An informal "get-together" dinner at the Cecil hotel Tuesday night assembled approximately 27 postoffice inspectors of the Atlanta division who met at the Federal building during the day for the annual examination of the local office.

Cyrus Zimmerman, assistant inspector at Washington, addressed a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the office of Joe P. Johnson, in charge of the Atlanta division, which is headquarters for Georgia, Florida and South Carolina.

Mr. Zimmerman discussed service subjects with his men and invited each to bring up any matter of interest to departmental work.

While an elaborate entertainment program was arranged for the dinner by Clyde Fleming, assigned to the local office, no formal speeches were delivered. Each man, however, was called on for a few words as an entertainment feature.

MUSICIANS DONATE SERVICES FOR BIG BENEFIT CONCERT

With the Atlanta Federation of Musicians cooperating fully in the benefit performance to be given next Sunday afternoon at Keith's Georgia theater by the Atlanta Symphony orchestra, with the theater given free for the occasion and all soloists likewise donating their services, it is expected that the proceeds of the performance will be sufficient to wipe out the deficit faced by the local symphony association at the end of the 1926-1927 series of concerts.

Every musician in the big orchestra is giving his services free, with the consent of the federation, hoping in this way to clear the financial slate and leave it in good condition for a revival of the fall and winter concert series a year from now. However, this will be the only concert given by the orchestra this season.

Demand for seats at Phillips & Crew Piano Co. continued brisk through Tuesday and it appeared evident that Atlantans who appreciate the music and the entertainment provided by the orchestra on winter Sunday afternoons in the past are going to fill the theater—a condition which must be achieved if the deficit is to be entirely eliminated.

Prices have been set at the lowest possible scale with this in view. Practically all box seats have already been engaged, but there are many excellent seats yet available in the orchestra and balcony.

JOHN WESTMORELAND INTER-CIVIC CHIEF

Election of officers and discussion of plans for the coming year, featured the annual meeting of the inter-civic council in Chamber of Commerce hall. The council is composed of representatives of all the Atlanta civic organizations, including the chamber of commerce.

John L. Westmoreland, president of the Kiwanis club, was elected chairman of the council; Robert L. Foreman, president of the Rotary club, was chosen vice chairman, and John Gilmore, past president of the Exchange club, for the third consecutive time, was named secretary-treasurer. Closer contact between the students of local colleges and the people of Atlanta will be brought about in the near future, if plans of the council discussed at the annual meeting are successful, officials stated.

Distinctive!

The distinction between smart and mediocre styles is found not in the cost of the clothes, but in the way they are fashioned.

Some of the smartest overcoats we have ever shown, or that you have ever worn, are surprisingly low in cost.

The same can be said of our suits; some of the most elegant ones in the fall line are very moderately priced.

Young men especially, varsity men particularly, have praised us much and often for the snap and dash of our suits and overcoats priced around $32.50.

MILLER CHARGED WITH SLAYING

Soperton, Ga., November 8.—(AP)—Frank Miller, held in Mount Vernon jail, is charged with the murder at 2 a. m. Sunday of Clayton Newsome, member of a prominent family here, it was learned today.

The warrant was sworn out by M. H. Newsome, father of the slain youth, who was laid to rest yesterday in the family burial ground.

Mrs. Emma Coats, at whose home on the Newsome plantation the killing occurred, is still confined in jail here, with her four daughters, Mrs. Eva Mae Allen, 22; Misses Allen, 18; Josephine, 16; Louise, 14. Newsomen were allowed to interview the widow and her daughters last night and immediately thereafter Solicitor M. H. Boyer ordered that they be held incommunicado for 48 hours.

The coroner's jury is recessed, marking time while the solicitor and a private aide, Judge Will Stallings, of Soperton city court, continue investigations with the exact nature of their inquiry unknown. Two coroners are advanced in the case—jealousy and a land fight.

The property on which the killing occurred, occupied by Mrs. Coats, was claimed as a part of the Newsome plantation and also claimed by another landowner of the county. Authorities will not say how much evidence they place in either theory.

Mrs. Coats, about 45, and of a very nervous disposition, seemed anxious to tell newspapermen of the night's events. Her story followed: Clayton Newsome, a son of Clayton Newsome, was visiting on Saturday evening, and left early. Frank Miller returned about 10 or 11 o'clock, under the influence of whisky, and declared he had come back to spend the night and protect his home from anyone. He did not say who he expected.

"Some time later I was awakened by the sound of an automobile driving up to the house. It was Clayton Newsome, and he asked to see my daughter, Allen, whom he had visited on several occasions. I told him to come back Sunday, that it was late in the night to be visiting. About that time Allen went to the door, and when she opened it Frank Miller fired the shot which we heard in the house. It was loaded with birdshot and the charge hit Clayton in the chest. We couldn't do anything for him."

"I had just told Clayton to come back Sunday," said Miss Allen Coats, "when Miller fired. He was dazed by what he had to drink, and jealous, too, I think."

DECATUR APPROVES TAX COMMISSIONER PLAN BY BIG VOTE

Decatur, Ga., November 8.—(Special).—By a vote of 23 to 39, the constitutional amendment proposing to combine the offices of tax collector and tax assessor into that of tax commissioner, swept to victory in a special election held here today. Another proposed constitutional amendment, calling for the creation of the office of county treasurer, was defeated by a vote of 187 to 79.

Figures for the other voting points in DeKalb county, Stone Mountain, Clarkston, Lithonia, Chamblee, Roswell, and Panthersville, were not available here tonight, but the opinion was expressed that the Decatur vote expressed the general sentiment existing throughout the county.

The proposals, both approved by the last general assembly, carry the provisions that the new offices, if created, shall become effective on January 1, 1929. The salary of the tax commissioner would be determined on the same basis as that of other county officers, while the salary of the county treasurer is fixed at $2,000 per annum.

HERO RUFUS DEAD

Drenching in Fire After Saving Ten Persons Fatal.

A hero was buried Tuesday. Rufus died Monday. And Rufus was a hero whose Carnegie medal was a bright, new ribbon, and whose citation was a large piece of beefsteak. He saved ten lives.

Rufus was the pet cat of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus L. McCowan, and early Sunday morning, October 30, Rufus awakened Mr. and Mrs. McCowan and their little son, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas as Crenshaw, their two children, and two little nephews just in time for them to flee the burning residence at 354 Capitol avenue and escape a collapsing floor.

Rufus was given every attention and every care by "his folks." But, due to the drenching administered by the fire, he contracted pneumonia and died Monday.

Rufus was buried with honors.

BOOTLEGS TO PAY FINE, COURT THINKS

Said to be busily bootlegging to pay a previous fine, Moses Coad, negro, Tuesday incurred another potential penalty when United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter put him under a $200 bond for the grand jury.

Coad told the court he bought ten gallons to help defray a fine he got several weeks back, and admitted himself to be lagging in his race with the law.

Morgan County Has Celebration At Road Opening

Madison, Ga., November 8.—(Special).—The opening of a new 20-mile stretch of paved road—Morgan county's link in state route No. 12, from Atlanta to Augusta—was celebrated here today with a motorcade, barbecue and public speaking. Chairman John N. Holder and John Phillips, of the state highway board; Mayor I. N. Ragdale, of Atlanta; former Mayor R. W. Parker, of Madison, and many others, delivered addresses. Delegates from Fulton, DeKalb, Rockdale, Newton, Morgan, Greene, Putnam, Oconee, Taliaferro, McDuffie, and Richmond counties were on hand for the festivities.

The affair was presided over by Ben S. Thompson, chairman, and A. L. Traylor, secretary. Following the elaborate barbecue, served in a building on Main street, the delegates assembled in the Madison Square theater and pledged their counties to complete their portions of the Atlanta-Augusta highway.

The Route 12 association was formed with the following officers: Ben S. Thompson, Morgan, chairman; Edwin L. Johnson, Fulton; T. L. Y. Nash, DeKalb; Robert Hewlett, Rockdale; Ike Robinson, Newton; H. D. Goodwin, Greene; W. C. Chapman, Taliaferro; D. E. Johnston, Warren; G. W. Lakey, McDuffie; P. M. Monday, Columbia; Butler Harley, Richmond. The purpose of the new body is to encourage and promote the completion of the route through the counties named.

In his address to the assembly, Mr. Holder predicted that in 1928 the sum of $12,500,000 would be spent on Georgia's highway system. He estimated that this amount would be available for use by the department, and said it was planned to spend at least $10,500,000 for road construction next year.

Mr. Holder traced the development of highway building in Georgia and said "to October 1, this year, $9,000,000 has been paid out for construction." He said $2,000,000 has been spent on bridge construction and that "about 466 miles will be hard-surfaced this year or put under construction by the end of 1927."

WAREHOUSEMEN MEET HERE ON THURSDAY

Warehousemen from nine southern and southeastern states will attend the regular fall convention of the Southern Warehousemen's association, to be held here Thursday and Friday at the Henry Grady hotel with routine discussions relative to the trade on the business program, supplemented by an elaborate entertainment program.

Attendance this year is expected to be larger than at any previous convention, of which two are held each year. From this angle indications are that the current convention will be one of the most successful ever held by the association.

The association holds a fall and winter meeting each year, with winter meetings occurring in January and fall sessions in November. Biloxi, Miss., was the scene of the last winter meeting but Atlanta, for the past several years, has been the meeting place of the fall convention.

The convention is divided into two divisions. On Thursday, the first day, the session will be given over to discussions relative to the merchandise.

KIDNEYS MUST HAVE PLENTY OF WATER

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in a bad predicament; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it. It is because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so that you no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. (adv.)

Bobby Hooks May Not Play In Tiger Game

Bulldogs Hold Short Workout in Rain; Scrimmage Slated Today.

BY BOB SHERWOOD.
Athens, Ga., November 8.—A cold rain considerably handicapped the second practice of the week for the Georgia Bulldogs on Tuesday. The workout was light and lasted only about 45 minutes. Most of the short period was devoted to running signals and running down under punts.

Bobby Hooks, whose broken hand was discovered to be more annoying than was at first thought, will probably be kept out of the Clemson and Mercer games, next on the Red and Black schedule. Hooks has thrown most of the passes for the Georgians this season and his loss undoubtedly will be felt. It is fortunate for the Bulldogs that his injury came at this time if it had to come, considering that the next two games afford a lighter variety than others, past and future.

Loss Will Be Felt

Hooks is a former Riverside Junior and his home is in Americus, Ga. This is his junior year at the university and his second on the varsity. He was one of Georgia's "towering" last year along with George Morton, Willie Hatcher, Ike Shellock, Bob McTigue, Shaky Kain, Kels Boland, Roy Estes, Herdis McCrary, Frank Dudley, Howell Hollis, H. F. Johnson and Johnny Broadnax. Bobby was an outstanding halfback on the freshman team in 1925. He broke into prominence last year when Georgia met Mercer in their initial engagement of the season. On his first trial he dashed around Mercer's left end for 55 yards and a touchdown.

The play was called back and the Bulldogs punt. On the next play Mr. Hooks proceeded to reel off a 40-yard gain. This endeared him to Georgia fans, which position he has held ever since.

However, the injury to his flipper is not at all serious. The coaches are not intending to use him right away as a safety measure. When Thanksgiving and the Alabama games roll around he will be right there.

Team in Good Shape.
Otherwise the Georgia team is in good condition with the possible exception of McCrary. McCrary's injury in the Florida game has proven a minor one and he will probably play against Clemson, especially if necessity demands it. Buzz Collins, second string end, is still out with his injury required in the Tulane game and is likely to be for two weeks or more yet.

The squad will probably scrimmage Wednesday and Thursday. Buster Kilpatrick, freshman coach, who scouted the Clemson Tigers Saturday when they defeated Clemson, especially if necessity demands it, reports that the Tigers have a wealth of material and a smooth running team and are not to be taken too lightly. He believes, however, that unless a serious let up is experienced Georgia should win.

'Red' Dislikes Ice On Shoulder; Quits

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, November 8.—Carrying ice "is out" as a summer training stunt for football, so far as Red Grange is concerned. Moreover, he doesn't recommend it to others.

"The Wheaton team," who popularized the business as an avocation for halfbacks in the off-season, declared today he believes the practice causes rheumatism.

"Yes, sir," said Red, "that cold water on your shoulders and back doesn't do anybody any good. I know some old-time ice toters back home and its ruined 'em. I'm going to stick to showing talent and playing golf like I did last summer."

Grange turns thumbs down on the idea of ever becoming a football coach.

"If there's anybody in the world who takes more in the form of criticism than the president of the United States," said Red, "it's the coach of a college football team. None of that for me."

N. C. Will Meet Harvard In 1928

Cambridge, Mass., November 8.—(United News.) Harvard's football schedule for 1928 has been set. The Crimson is adopting a somewhat easier schedule for 1928.

Brown university and the two "Big Ten" teams, Purdue and Indiana, have been dropped.

The Army has been added to the Harvard schedule, which otherwise is not as difficult as this season's. All the Crimson's 1928 games will be played at Cambridge except the game with Yale.

October 6—Springfield.
October 13—North Carolina.
October 20—Army.
October 27—Dartmouth.
November 3—Lehigh.
November 10—Pennsylvania.
November 17—Holy Cross.
November 24—Yale.

Red Grange Leads Team to Victory

New York, November 8.—(United News.)—Red Grange returned to the gridiron today after a three weeks' layoff occasioned by an injured knee and led his New York Yankees to victory in the professional football game with the Chicago Bears. The score was 23-0.

Long forward passes; three of which Ray Flaherty, ex-Gonzaga university star, carried over for touchdowns, featured the game. Eddie Teton, former Colgate star, covered 60 yards on two rushes for a touchdown.

Grange threw a number of accurate passes in the second period, and was cheered by a crowd of 12,000.

Good Pair Of Wingmen Helps Team

Pair Working Together Can Keep Up Enthusiasm of Squad, Says Bjorkman.

BY HANK BJORKMAN.
The duty of an end on defense against a punt is to know whether or not it is a sure punt, for many teams employ a consistent running attack from punt formation. Vanderbilt is a good example of this. An end must be alert, regardless of his opponent's position on the field. On a sure punt, the end should charge on a straight line at a point two yards outside the kicker. This assures the end of reaching the kicker in the least possible time. His charge should never be checked and upon reaching his objective he should dive with his hands outstretched, across the path which the kicked ball will follow, so as to cover as much space as possible.

Cooperation with the tackle is most essential, for in working together the two are able to box the opposing backs who are protecting the kicker. Never allow the protected back to get to your body, for then you are helpless. A fast charge by the hands should never be forgotten.

When the opponents are using a running attack from kick formation, the end should never leave his feet. A kick formation is more or less a loose formation and running strength can be easily concentrated on the back. In leaving your feet, the outer line would be thrown open to the backs, which is suicide as far as preventing a good gain or a touchdown is concerned.

On kick formation, if the play develops away from you on an expected pass, protect your flat territory for receivers running out. This is obvious for the strength of the play is on your opposite side and the defense has shifted to meet it. Then the weak end is easily in a position to back up and protect the flat zone.

It is a good policy to crack any man trying to sneak by you. You can still hold your feet and accomplish this by means of a charge and use of the hands. In doing this repeatedly one can see that the man trying to sneak out is never in a position to receive the pass, which at some time will be thrown to him.

Ends' General Duties.
Having now completed explaining the duties of an end offensively and defensively, I wish to make a few general remarks concerning the ends.

A good pair of ends is the life of any team. For it is able to keep the spirit of the team from waning by its constant enthusiasm.

The two should also keep the team lined up on the ball so that not one inch is lost on offside penalties.

Always pick your backs up after a play. Let them use all their energy on running, driving plays—and not on getting up after the play is over. It is a small, but it certainly helps when one considers the number of times a back gets up off the ground during the game.

Finally, an end working hard on every play will hardly ever be injured and is most assured of coming out on top as far as end play is concerned.

Owens Wins Title.

The following year the tournament was held in Asheville. Frank Owens, of Atlanta, then in the prime of his singles career, walked off with the title, defeating V. M. Manning, the Greenville ace, in the final round. The next year saw the scene of battle shifted to Louisville, where Jeff Hunt, the great chop stroke player, breezed through the singles field, and, in company with Frank Owens, annexed the doubles crown.

The years 1924 and '25 saw the title decided at Asheville. The first of these years witnessed the rise of the late Jack Caldwell, of this city, to the championship level. He was a sterling player teamed with Julian Robertson, now of Salisbury, capped the doubles that year and also in 1925. In the latter year he dropped his singles crown to Edward Pfeiffer, of Louisville.

Dan Murray, of New Orleans, crashed through the 1926 event, which was held in New Orleans. Just to make it an all-Crescent City victory, the strong team of A. C. Waters and Charles Granger, of that city, took the doubles.

As all tennis followers know, the 1927 tournament was held in Memphis with Atlanta again taking its place in the championship limelight through young Brian Grant's spectacular victory in the singles. Granger and Waters won the doubles.

As can be seen from this brief review of the past several years, there has been no fixed system of rotation. It can also be seen that Louisville has had the tournament since Atlanta played host. Whether or not that fact will have any bearing on the 1928 award is not known.

The fact that Atlanta has always made a huge success of the southern championship, that it is more or less centrally located for players from all sections of the south and that this city boasts of probably the biggest string of star players now wielding rackets in Dixie may well weigh in weight to swing the verdict.

Royal Engagement?

Brussels, November 8.—(P)—It is reported from Naples that the engagement of Princess Marie Jose, daughter of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth, to Crown Prince Humbert of Italy is imminent, but court circles do not take the report seriously. Princess Marie Jose, who is 21, attended the wedding in Naples Saturday of Princess Anne of France, to the Duke of Apulia.

Now They Will Eliminate Fights

BY LEASED WIRE TO THE CONSTITUTION AND THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, November 8.—Now they want to eliminate prize fighting from this, the home state of Gene Tunney. An organization of men and women interested in civic and religious affairs has formed the "committee opposed to prize fighting." It was learned today.

Candidates for the assembly have been informed by letter of the organization's purpose.

According to Mrs. Anna P. George, editor of The Christian Nation, who is chairman of the committee, 48 of the 356 assembly candidates have answered a questionnaire and 30 of them are opposed to legalized fighting.

The questionnaire has been out only a few days and many more replies are expected. The assembly is to be asked for the law in 1928.

MAY JOIN YANKS

Lyn Lary, left, and Jimmy Reese, second baseman and shortstop of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league, may be sold to the New York Yankees, according to report. It is said Oakland is demanding $65,000 for Lary or $100,000 for the pair.

ATLANTA MAY BE SCENE SELECTION OF CITY FOR '28 MEET MADE IN FEBRUARY OF SOUTHERN NET TOURNAY

BY WHITNER CARY.
Atlanta stands a good chance to get the southern tennis championship for 1928.

As the situation now stands, the two cities which have put in bids for the Dixie title event next year are Atlanta and Louisville. The final decision as to which one of these will be awarded the tournament will likely be made some time in February.

The awarding of tournament is left with a committee consisting of the president, the two vice presidents and the secretary and treasurer of the Southern Lawn Tennis association and the southern member of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Should this city be awarded the championship in 1928 it will be the first time since 1921 that the title event has been held in Atlanta. In that year Carlton Smith, probably the greatest tennis player Atlanta ever produced, won permanent possession of the handsome singles cup by taking the title. The final match between this star and Douglas Waters, the New Orleans crack, has always been considered one of the best of the great net encounters in southern tennis. That year and that championship marked the final appearance in singles play of the mighty Smith.

"I haven't made any plans about boxing in New York or any other place," he said. "I don't know what the future holds for me. Therefore, I have put in an order for $150,000 worth of stock in the garden, which I believe will net me a tidy profit. It will also keep me identified with the boxing game when my fighting days are over."

"However, if the deal for the stock is completed and the shares are delivered to me and then I decide to fight in New York they will have the right to sack me. I will have to abide by the decision."

"If the commission is insistent, I'll sell or transfer the shares."

New York, November 8.—Tex Rickard, after making a flying trip to Boston, to go over plans for a Boston Madison Square Garden, was back at his desk today and the big item in his routine was peace-making with the eccentric wood-chopper, Paulino Uzcudun.

Tex and the senior buried their differences and agreed to go along like little pals together.

The senior, being under suspension, Tex couldn't do any signing, for the commission rules prohibit dealing with a boxer under the ban. Paulino is on the ground for having acquired a crick in his back when it came near time to box Phil Scott. There are things ahead for Paulino now that his troubles have been about ironed out. It is understood Rickard is going to send Uzcudun against Johnny Risbo on November 25.

Jack Delaney, Knute Hanser and Cyclone Jack Humbeck, Belgian heavy, also have been named as possible opponents.

New York, November 8.—Tiger Flowers will call on the state athletic commission on Thursday to seek its aid in forcing Mickey Walker to live up to his contract to box him in the New Madison Square Garden for the world's middleweight championship. Flowers lost the decision to Walker in Chicago and it was agreed at that time that the latter would give the Georgia deacon first crack at the title in the event Walker was the victor. The negro middleweight arrived in town today. He is scheduled to box Leo Gates in the Harlem club next Saturday night.

Petrels Hold Scrimmage Despite Rain

New Backfield Used by Bird Coach in Workout Tuesday.

BY FRED McEACHIN.

Although heavy showers which fell Tuesday afternoon made Hercules field muddy and soapy, it did not dampen the Petrels' fighting spirit as they went through their daily chores under the supervision of Coach Robertson and Campbell in preparation for the rapidly approaching contest with Mercer in Macon next Friday.

The arduous crew gave battle to Coach Chestnut's squad of yearlings in a lively scrimmage which took the majority of the afternoon. The regulars took the ball on offensive and after playing the Rats completely off their feet on the muddy field switched to defensive, holding the freshmen with a stone-like wall.

The first-string men looked better on the offensive Tuesday than at any previous scrimmage of the year and charged the ball up and down the field with little difficulty. There were several combinations of backs experienced with during the scrimmage and it is very dubious just who will be Robertson's choice for the ball-toting jobs when the Petrels enter the game Friday against the Bears.

With the loss of Shepherd, Bass and in all probability Walk, three of the Oglethorpe team's mainstays in the backfield, Robertson has a difficult task on his hands to select a quartet who will be able to score against Mercer.

Reports from Macon are that the largest crowd ever to attend a sport event in that city will turn out for the classic Friday afternoon. Besides the regular Armistice day celebrations, it will be home-coming day for Mercer and the day has all the makings of a "Phone Smith" day. Smith, a brilliant Mercer back, will play his last game on home soil when the Bears clash with the Stormy Petrels.

A special car has been chartered and a large delegation of the Oglethorpe student body is journeying to Macon to cheer for their team and with the expectations of celebrating a victory over their old rivals.

Georgetown Grid Captain Lauded For Sportsmanship

Washington, November 8.—(P) Georgetown university has a candidate for the mythical all-American eleven who already has clinched a position on the all-American honor roll of sportsmen.

He is Claude Grigsby, captain and center of the big Blue and Gray team, and a starter in 27 successive games since making the team in his sophomore year three seasons ago.

Saturday Grigsby led his eleven to a crushing 27-to-2 victory over Lafayette. He was in the van of the offense and defense, a raging figure in every play, but the play that Lafayette remembers and told about today took place "in between times" in the second period.

Lafayette, in the midst of a drive that already had covered 20 yards, suffered an injury. About to take him out, Captain Cotran discovered he had already exhausted his quota for the half.

"I can't afford the penalty for excessive time out," Cotran told Umpire C. J. McCarthy and motioned for play to resume.

Grigsby overheard him. Finding he had one more time out left for his own eleven, he said: "I'll take time out for Lafayette. Charge it to Georgetown."

Lafayette, charged it to Georgetown.

Mary Friends Pay Tribute To 'Spider'

San Francisco, November 8.—(P)—Friends from the rich and the poor walks of life paid tribute to "Spider" Kelly, one-time ring idol, at his funeral here today. He was buried in the city to which he came 40 years ago, a lad of 15, to begin a colorful career that brought him fame in the boxing profession.

James Patrick Curtin, as "Spider" Kelly, reached the heights in boxing first as a fighter, later as a trainer, manager, and second of champions. After requiem high mass at St. Mary's cathedral, the casket containing Kelly's body was taken to a cemetery to rest next to his mother, dead 20 years, and his father, who passed away two years ago.

Kelly died in Rochester, Minn., last week. Honorary pallbearers today included many noted men who were friends of the "Spider" through four decades.

Stunning Blow Dealt Tiger, Yale Classic

Caldwell Case Takes Shine Off Game; Teams Working Hard.

New York, November 8.—(P)—With the mythical eastern college football championship at stake in the Princeton clash next Saturday, Yale was dealt a surprising and stunning blow today in the disbarment of Bruce Caldwell, the Bulldog's brilliant halfback.

Caldwell, a leading candidate for all-American honors and the bulwark of the Eli machine, was declared ineligible to even participate in Yale football by the board of control of athletics at Yale university because he had participated in two football games as a freshman at Brown university in 1922.

Preparing for the classic encounter with Notre Dame, Coach "Biff" Jones, of the Army, stressed the importance of combatting the South Bend offensive. A second-string squad headed Notre Dame spirals against the regulars with some success.

Harvard was faced with the possibility of being without Crosby, a triple-threat player, against Brown. Crosby's leg injury received in the Penn game had not mended as rapidly as expected. French, Bell and Park, other casualties from the Quaker contest, reported for practice but did not scrimmage. Punting and passing by Jack Potter featured a clash between Team B and a scrub outfit.

Snow failed to deter the Penn State squad from preparing for New York university. A signal drill and special instructions for the lineemen marked the session. The New York eleven worked out against formations expected from Penn State.

'Y' Church Cage News

It was voted at the business meeting of the 'Y' Church Athletic association Monday at the Y. M. C. A. that all teams desiring to enter the association must have a representative present at the Tuesday meeting. Time is getting short and something definite must be formed.

After entrance into the association the schedule can quickly be worked out for the exact number of teams.

J. M. Hendley was elected as referee-in-chief.

New Officers Are Elected At Meeting

Club Votes To Spend $20,000 on Building; Membership Grows.

Enlarging of the present clubhouse to one having a frontage of 150 feet and combining all the modern improvements of an up-to-date country club, including a large ballroom, spacious cafe and commodious locker rooms, was decided by the board of directors of the Ansley Park Golf club at its annual meeting, which took place Saturday night immediately following the dinner golf tournament which was won by three points by the J. J. Jones team over the one captained by Harrie Ansley.

It is understood that the enlargement will only take in that part of the present clubhouse that is used for a reception room. This room will be converted into a cafe. The enlargement will be made on the south end. On the left wing will be the new locker room and showers. The right wing will contain the large dance and reception room. Underneath the first floor of the new building will be the golf professional's workshop. On the main floor, between the two wings, there will be a display shop in which golf supplies will be kept.

Plans for the new building have already been submitted. These show that the new clubhouse will combine both comfort and beauty. Contracts for the work, which is understood to start around January 15, have not yet been awarded, but will likely be placed within a short time. The enlargement, it is understood, will be around $20,000.

The adoption of the plan for enlargement followed a most enthusiastic meeting of the board at which time it was decided to give the Ansley Park Golf club a building that was in keeping with the wonderful progress this club has made in the last few years.

The dinner, following the exciting golf match in which 39 pairs took part, was greatly enjoyed.

In floor of the new building will be the building program for the enlargement of the clubhouse, officers for the coming year were elected. These were William M. Hunt, president; C. M. Frederick, vice president; H. R. Pittillo, secretary and treasurer; Dan Y. Sage, E. C. Jennings, L. W. Grenade and Dr. J. H. Nicholson, the retiring president, were elected to the board of directors.

It is announced at this meeting that the membership is practically filled.

Caldwell, Yale Backfield Star, Is Barred From Game

Ace Played On Brown U., Is Charged

Loss of Young Flash Is Heavy Blow to Bulldog Eleven; Caldwell Surprised.

New Haven, Conn., November 8.—(AP)—Fast out of the team of the Yale football team, Caldwell, star backfield player, was barred from the game with the Princeton team last night after a series of exhibition games with a Mexican military team.

At one dramatic stroke which brought to light Caldwell's participation in two games as a freshman at Brown university in 1925 in violation of Yale's eligibility rules, the great career of the youthful backfield star was cut down in full stride.

What soaring ambitions of youth for all-American honors and for glory of success against Princeton went crumbling into dust when the 21-year-old backfield learned of his disqualification at the practice field late this afternoon, only Caldwell knew. Downcast, he turned away and could not speak.

Caldwell himself was as surprised as any one at the revelation and its consequences which came with the suddenness of a bombshell in Yale's athletic midst.

It was true, he said, that he had played for Brown once, years ago, when he entered and stayed only a short time. It seemed an unimportant episode and he hadn't known it mattered. A student—even an athlete—often knows little of diplomatic agreements with other institutions on such points. So Caldwell played three years with the varsity, winning his letter against Harvard in 1925, being named captain by an early season injury last year, and reaching the climax of his career this fall with an exhibition of all-around football play that set sport lovers throughout the country to marveling.

With loss of Caldwell Yale's stock took a decided slump with indications the shift will make Princeton a favorite for the classic game which this year must have an important bearing on the Eastern championship situation. Even more evident than the general dismay at the loss of the half-backing passing and kicking wizard was a genuine sympathy for Caldwell and his thwarted hopes that prevailed to night among the students who went to classes with him.

Coach "Bud" Jones, tight lipped and philosophical, used both of Caldwell's undersides in practice. Garvey, at Caldwell's left halfback post, made two touchdowns from scrimmage on the 25 yard line against the scrubs and Hammersley added another. Both will be ready to try to fill Caldwell's shoes against Princeton.

Yale officials were prompt to verify the information as to Caldwell as published by the Providence (R. I.) Bulletin today and to act accordingly. The rule does not bar Caldwell from baseball, in which he is a star at second base.

Caldwell's disbarment from Yale football was announced in a statement by Professor George H. Nettleton, chairman of the board of control of the Yale Athletic association, pointing out Caldwell's "evident misapprehension as to the full import of the rule."

The rule, announced as follows, was agreed to by the "Big Three" in 1923 and with the Harvard-Princeton break was incorporated by Yale in dual agreements with Harvard and Princeton.

"Any student who transfers to Harvard, Yale or Princeton from another college or university after this agreement goes into effect shall be ineligible to represent Harvard, Yale or Princeton in any sport in which he represented his former college or university or any university or freshman team while playing against opponents not members of that institution."

TIGERS ARE SILENT ON CALDWELL CASE.

Princeton, N. J., November 8.—(AP)—Princeton has not taken up the question of the eligibility of Bruce Caldwell with Yale nor has there been any exchange of information on the status of the crack Eli halfback, according to authorities here.

"The transfer" rule, under which Caldwell's case comes, was made a part of the Harvard-Yale-Princeton

FIRING SQUAD ROUTS BALL PROMOTER FACES GUNS AS SOLDIERS HOLD PASTIME PLAYERS IN MEXICAN GAME

San Antonio, Texas, November 8.—(AP)—Mexico is not a place for baseball, at present, take it from a group of minor league stars who crossed the Rio Grande traveling fast after a series of exhibition games with a Mexican military team.

Jimmy Long, San Antonio catcher, related that everything was "fine" until next to the last day of the schedule in Mexico City.

With pay-lay only 24 hours away, he marched a squad of Mexican soldiers and marched away the officer promoting the game. The battle from guns of the firing squad had severely wounded when the barnstormers were putting distance between them and the Mexican capital. Most of them refused to stop here, declaring "Mexico is too close."

Last year the team, which included Long of the Texas league, Mike Gonzales and Joe Rabbit, of the Western; Lefty Guat, of the International; and other minor league players, returned from the Mexican junker loaded with honors and with fat purses.

Being forced indoors held the Jack-ets out of a scheduled scrimmage which will be forthcoming this afternoon, weather permitting. Hank Bjorkman has had two days to instruct his scrub eleven—which also remained on the field Tuesday, and ran signals—in L. S. U. plays, and this afternoon the Black Devils and the Varsity are in for a long, hard session with the Varsity on defense a greater part of the time getting a line on the Tiger plays.

Ready for Scrimmage.

The lay-off Tuesday probably will be just enough to make the boys anxious and ready for a scrimmage. Bjorkman is in good shape and with fair weather Saturday will give the Tigers a hard battle from the beginning.

Saturday Hank Bjorkman and Don Miller scouted the L. S. U. in the Dixie championship. Coach Yost was heartily received by the football powers here. He immediately started in by giving the freshmen a "point-ers" on how to meet the Volunteer attack and then went into a "skull" session with the squad, talking more than two hours.

Coach Yost also gave the team a number of new plays to spring on the Vols, those attending the practice session reported. He also watched the sound scrimmage against Tennessee plays and suggested freely as to means of stopping the Knoxville team's offense.

"Yost" said it plain that he has "nothing in particular against Tennessee," but just could not resist "getting in" and help his brother-in-law. He recalled that he had the past aided West Point a number of times in preparing for the Navy game. Coach Bob Neyland, of Tennessee, was formerly an assistant coach at West Point.

Pro Football.

At New York—New York Yankees, 26; Chicago Bears, 6.
At New York—New York Giants, 25; Providence Steam-Rollers, 0.

University of Florida, Gainesville, November 8.—(AP)—The "Fighting Gators" of Florida university were back home preparing for their battle in Montgomery, Saturday with the Crimson Tide of Alabama, national champions for the past two years. Encouraged by their play against Georgia Saturday, despite a 28-0 defeat, the Gators are entering their week's drill with vim and vigor, and expect to be in great shape for Wallace Wade's troupe Saturday.

Tom Schring, Florida's youthful head coach, found himself attempting to solve a difficult problem in his backfield, for "Goof" Bowyer, triple three quarterback, suffered a broken leg in the Georgia game and will be lost to the club the rest of the year. There are Brumbaugh, Walker and Crabtree—all in line for the position. Brumbaugh and Crabtree are playing their first year on the varsity, while Brumbaugh is a veteran of two years' experience, but lacks physical qualifications, being the lightest man on the squad with his scant 132 pounds.

Bowyer's absence will result in a great deal of the Gator punch on offense, for "Goof" kicked, passed and ran with the ball exceptionally well. Captain Bill Middlekauff, who entered the Georgia clash with an injured knee and ankle, aggravated the wounds during the game and continues to head the list of ailing athletes, excepting Bowyer.

Alabama's this week will have an opportunity of seeing one of their native sons in action against Wade's Crimson Tide. Alex Reeves, who between the years of 1922 and 1925 carried with much brilliance with the crack Sidney Lanier high school eleven of Montgomery, is occupying a regular berth on the Florida forward wall, being Schring's most outstanding guard. Though just a sophomore, Alex has shown great play in this, his first year on the varsity, and Line Coach Joe Bedenk rates him a coming all-southern product.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., November 8.—(AP)—Alabama and Vanderbilt will terminate their two-year agreement after this year's game is played and will not meet in 1928. It has been announced by the Crimson athletic department.

Three newcomers will appear on the Tide schedule for 1928 when Mississippi, Wisconsin and Tennessee will clash with Coach Wallace Wade's men.

Alabama will meet Wisconsin at Madison the first Saturday in November. Dates for other games have not been announced.

Billy Spears

Birmingham, Ala., November 8.—(AP)—Billy Spears, Vanderbilt quarterback, is the second player chosen for the all-southern football team that will meet a picked team from the Pacific coast in an inter-sectional classic Christmas day. The announcement has been made here by Champ Pickens, Alabama sportsman, who was instrumental in making arrangements for the game.

Spears is conceded to be one of the greatest quarterbacks developed in the south in years. Captain Freddie Pickard, of Alabama, was the first player to be selected for the all-star team. He was chosen to captain the southern aggregation at the time arrangements were made for the game.

Southern Field Trials.

These cool, cloudy days with a strong wind and the smell of autumn in the air start a chronic itch on the trigger finger of any sportsman.

Rumor has it that "birds" are plentiful in Georgia this fall and it is hoped that the rumors are true, but this column does not deal with the killing of birds so much as the hunting of them without any killing being done except on the gallery which rides pell mell after the field trial dogs.

There are many casualties among the members of the gallery who are unused to straddling a horse, but the quail suffer little at the hands of the thoroughbreds.

With the southern field trials at Waynesboro nearly a month off, it might seem a bit early to think about them. This reaction, however, is only expected from one who has never attended the Waynesboro field trials. Those who have attended start thinking about the trials just as soon as they are over and continue to dwell on the matter until the next year rolls around.

The Waynesboro trials start during the first week in December, but before that time there probably will be a field of hunting dogs in action at Americus in the state hunting dog trials. Now, there is a difference between field trial dogs and hunting dogs. The former are usually the latter but the latter are not always the former.

At Waynesboro and other field trials, the dogs usually bear a pedigree from 3 to 30 feet in length, but the dogs at Americus may be part brindle and part Pomeranian, just as long as they can find birds and perform on them as the judges wish.

These trials at Americus fill a great need and we hope that the rumor of their discontinuance is without foundation. The southern field trials at Waynesboro bring out some of the best racers in the nation and canine blue blood is there in profusion, but the man who has a scrub dog which may be just a "hunting" dog has no place at the blooded dog trials.

One of the dangers of the southern trials has been obviated by the revision of rules which extends the time of initial trials from 30 minutes to one hour. Under the old 30-minute rule there were too many racers and too few hunters brought forth. Any keenly bred trial dog must race himself for a few minutes before he really gets down to hunting, and with some of them the 30 minutes were often spent before the real hunting began, thus giving the dog with the greater stamina no advantage over the flashy dog.

With the new change in rules the trials at Waynesboro this year should be greater than ever and that is saying a heap. Don't take our word for this, just ask the man, woman or child who has been the guest of Waynesboro at the trials.

EARL SANDE BREAKS DOWN $25,000 CHECK IS POSTED FOR DUNDEE GO AT HEARING

Baltimore, Md., November 8.—(United News.)—Failing to convince the Maryland racing commission that the license should be restored to him, Earl Sande today left the commission's office in tears.

The famous jockey, who was barred from the American turf after an alleged rough ride on W. M. Jeffers' Bateau in the Pimlico future, failed to convince the authorities that an injustice had been done him.

Sande's testimony was described by the officials as "lame" and that of three jockeys who appeared with him, James McVoy, Lewis Morris, and George Ellis, failed to convince the commission that he was not guilty of fouling Mrs. John D. Hertz's Reigh Count in last Friday's $100,000 race.

At first Sande maintained that Chick Lang, on Reigh Count, showed poor judgment in trying to get through on the rail. Later, Earl admitted that there was room, but claimed Lang had grabbed his blouse in trying to pass.

Chairman Latane, of the Maryland commission, said that the ruling, re-taking Sande's license would stand.

Los Angeles, November 8.—(AP)—Despite announced opposition by the city prosecutor, negotiations were continued today to re-match Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, and Ace Hickins, of Nebraska, whose scheduled title bout last Thursday was called "no contest" when Dundee failed to show up.

There also were reports of secret plans in some quarters to hold the bout out of the city limits.

R. D. Knickerbocker, attorney for Promoter Dick Donahue, said a certified check for $25,000 had been posted by business interests to guarantee Dundee's full purse. Knickerbocker said the money was posted on condition that the prosecutor withdraws his objection and a majority of the state athletic commission approve the match.

but that Earl could apply for a new license any time he chose.

"Sande broke down and wept and his fellow jockeys had to help him from the room."

I Have Said in My Heart

By IDAH MCGLONE GIBSON
ENTHUSIASM

One sometimes wonders which attains the most—the woman of enthusiasm or the woman of poise.

The woman of enthusiasm can always work herself up to great heights. If she is allowed to follow the line of her ambition, she will train every nerve, put every ounce of energy into the undertaking, labor early and late, and put it through, but it is made to repress her enthusiasm she suffers almost physical pain and she is apt to make those about her quite as unhappy as she is.

The woman of poise is always very agreeable to meet. She is a reasonable creature, sane and understanding; but she seldom gets very much excited over anything or anybody. She is the kind of woman who rarely makes a mistake; indeed, her correctness often makes you feel childish. She is not apt to tire you. You are quieted and made comfortable in her presence, but unless you have a brain of uncommon, almost brittle, brilliancy, you are apt to become stagnated if you come in contact with her often.

I have never known but one woman of great poise whom I admired greatly. This is Annie Besant, of the Theosophical society. She lives now, as you know, in India, where she is an incalculable influence over that people. She is rather a selfish attitude to take, to exert that same influence over a people of different temperament from those where she has elected to live, one does not know.

I would rather have followed the banner of a Theodore Roosevelt than a Judge Taft; one impulsive, splendid even in his mistakes, honest in his endeavor, enthusiastic always—the other, logical, with a mind of mathematical legality, always weighing with judicial temperament his actions as well as his words, one who may choose the same way but never the adventurous one.

The enthusiastic person, after all, is the person who does things. If Columbus had not had great enthusiasm he would not have been the discoverer of the new world. It is only the enthusiasts who have died for an idea; it is only the enthusiasts who will fight for an idea; it is only the enthusiasts who are able to sell their ideas to the phlegmatic and unthinking.

Marcus Aurelius was the great exemplification of poise, of sanity, of the reasonable thinking of his day. Only the cultured few know about him today.

Jesus Christ was the greatest enthusiast the world has ever known—and all Christians bow at the shrines erected in his name.

Poise is a very wonderful, beautiful thing, and yet it almost seems at times that it is rather a selfish attitude to take, to exert that same influence over a people of different temperament from those where she has elected to live, one does not know.

To most people the enthusiasts, even when they are mistaken, are much more interesting than those who pride themselves upon their great calmness in the face of all impulse and all disaster, for it is the enthusiasts that really live.

Memo: It is the enthusiast who drives this old world forward; and the people of poise who hold it in the right direction.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS.

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.—Jewish proverb.

Care of the Breasts in Nursing.

The new from cracked nipples and sore breasts may be so very great that frequently mothers cannot nurse their babies. And these conditions are dangerous for they may result in abscessed breasts.

At the Living in hospital in New York they use adhesive strap bandages on the breasts, which support them so well that it is a great help in preventing fissures and chafing, and therefore abscesses. Dr. De Bary, who has charge of the department of pediatrics of Tulane university, also uses this dressing, and he states that in the five years he has used it not a single case of fissured nipple or cracked or abscessed breasts has occurred.

The object of the dressing is to hold the breasts perpendicular to the chest wall and pointing directly in front of the mother. The bandages support with a minimum of pressure, and that is, the breasts are not pressed down as they may be in the ordinary bandage.

I think I can simplify the directions for applying the bandages which Dr. De Bary has given in an article in one of the pediatric journals, so that the mothers who have been attended by midwives or physicians who do not happen to know of it, can have it applied if the breasts are painful. The illustrations will help.

First Strap.—Attach one end of the strap at the middle of the outer side of one breast, and dipping slightly, apply it so that it will cover about one-half inch below the areola (colored circle around the nipple), apply it across the outer side of the other breast.

Second Strap.—Apply the second strap in like manner, but above the areola, and this one dipping slightly upward in the center. The ends of these two straps will overlap on the outside of the breasts.

Third and Fourth Straps.—Measure off two fourth straps, a little shorter than the fourth to the sixth day after the first two, from about the middle of one breast at the base, to the middle of the other breast at the base. These straps will make the figure X across the center.

Fifth Strap.—This is applied up and down over the last two straps in the middle.

The strapping leaves the nipple and the areola free. If the breasts are very large and pendulous, they may need two, or perhaps three, layers of these straps to make the bandage firm enough.

The time that the dressing should be applied is important; it is usually applied from the fourth to the sixth day after the baby is born that the breasts become painful, and it is at this time that the dressing should be applied and is usually kept on until the eighth day. The dressing is also an advantage during the process of weaning, and it is of great value to mothers whose babies die at birth.

Care of the Nipples.

During the pre-natal period, if the nipples are inverted or small, they should be pulled out for six times several times a day to develop the muscle tissue in them so the baby can grasp them.

Before and after nursing, the nipple is washed with boric acid solution, followed by sterile water, and afterwards just boric acid solution. If there is any soreness at all, the nipple can be anointed with alcohol or rosin butter, or vaseline and covered with a sterile cloth.

If the nipples do become fissured, you should report immediately to your doctor.

KING BORIS FEARS ATTEMPT ON LIFE

Bucharest, Rumania, November 8. (AP)—The decision of King Boris of Bulgaria, who has been traveling in Europe, to return home by way of Rumania rather than through Jugoslavia has aroused widespread comment in the Rumanian newspapers, which declare that the king's action must have been due to fear of possible attempts against his life.

The papers express the opinion that King Boris felt that it would be dangerous to travel through Jugoslavia, which has become embittered toward Bulgaria because of the recent outrages by Macedonian committees, accused of crossing the frontier from Bulgaria into Jugoslavia to commit depredations.

That the young bachelor king is even apprehensive of his life in Rumanian territory, the papers say, is indicated by the fact that he declined to ride in a special train offered by the Rumanian government, choosing instead a second-class coach on a regular train, where he could escape observation.

When informed that the Rumanian royal family always travel freely without guard, the young monarch is said by the Rumanian papers to have expressed surprise and delight that there was so much security in the country.

WOMAN'S MURDER LAID TO RUM WAR

Milwaukee, November 8. (AP)—Disguising themselves as police officers, three men forced Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Greenwald to stop their automobile near Waukesha last night, beat the husband into insensibility, kidnapped Mrs. Greenwald, and after mutilating and robbing her, strangled her to death.

Mrs. Greenwald's body was found by a milk wagon driver, 15 miles from the scene of the attack, this morning. Greenwald, after regaining consciousness, crawled to a nearby roadside, related the attack and was taken to a hospital. He had been robbed of $250.

It was the second time within three years the two, both 36 years old, had been waylaid while motoring on a highway.

The motive for the attack is a mystery although a possible clue was provided by detectives who said Greenwald admitted he was engaged in the illicit liquor trade, and may have been assailed by rivals. Greenwald last winter drove a bus in Milwaukee. Since then, the detectives said, he had been bootlegging.

Milwaukee police discounted the theory of Sheriff Alvin Redford, of Waukesha county that there was any connection between the case and the murder of Lillian Grafe, 19-year-old Milwaukee girl, whose body, bearing marks of blows and strangulation, was recovered from the Fox river three miles from the scene of the Greenwald attack Saturday morning.

Miss Grafe had been missing since October 11 when she accepted a "blind date" for her sister, Mildred, and went to meet "Jack," the only name by which the man was known. He had not been found and the murder is unsolved. She had not been attacked. Fifty policemen were aiding Waukesha county authorities in the search for the three men in the Greenwald case.

A coroner's jury has been summoned to meet "Jack" the only name by which the man was known. He had not been found and the murder is unsolved. She had not been attacked. Fifty policemen were aiding Waukesha county authorities in the search for the three men in the Greenwald case.

Keith's Georgia.

No question about this chap Jim McWilliams being a clever comedian. At Keith's Georgia this week, he is getting more laughs than rightfully belong to one actor and it has been suggested that he should be incorporated into the regular street attire. He begins by torturing the piano and winds up by making a political speech. On the screen is Thomas Meighan in an underworld story, "The City Gone Wild."

GOOLSBY IS SEEN AT BIRMINGHAM

Macon, Ga., November 8.—(AP)—

Tom Scott Goolbsy, of Forsyth, whose abandoned automobile was found on the Spring street bridge in the early morning of July 23, was seen at Birmingham, Ala., less than two weeks ago, it was ascertained definitely today.

Many rumors of Goolbsy's having been seen have been reported to the police and have been run down, without confirmation, but so definite and so conclusive is the information that came from Birmingham that the family, who has maintained that he was dead, now is convinced that he is alive and is in the United States.

Frank Tolbert, a negro who formerly lived in Forsyth and who is well known to the Goolbsys as a trustworthy negro, is now living in Birmingham and working as a painter. He wrote to his sister at Forsyth last week and told her of having seen a number of young men from Forsyth in Birmingham. He mentioned, among others, "Dr. Goolbsy's son," and said he had talked with him. Tolbert's sister took the letter to the Goolbsy family Sunday. Dr. Goolbsy turned it over to H. Clay Burns, chief of the Macon detective force, who has worked on the case steadily. Chief Burns communicated with the chief of police at Birmingham, who interviewed the Tolbert negro. Tolbert told the Birmingham chief that, of course, he knew Dr. Goolbsy's boy. He said that he had seen him sitting in an automobile at a curb. The automobile, of distinctive design, attracted his attention and while he saw the occupant was Scott Goolbsy's boy. He said that he had seen him sitting in an automobile at a curb. The automobile, of distinctive design, attracted his attention and while he saw the occupant was Scott Goolbsy's boy.

Goolbsy told Mrs. Goolbsy he was merely passing through Birmingham. The negro's story was so straightforward that the Birmingham police were convinced of the truth of it.

Mrs. Goolbsy went to Birmingham Sunday afternoon and returned to Forsyth early this morning. Her son-in-law, M. B. Parks, accompanied her. They interviewed Tolbert and he repeated the story he had told the police, with such additional details as to satisfy Mrs. Goolbsy beyond doubt that the man with whom the negro had talked was her son. Tolbert did not know that Scott Goolbsy was mysteriously missing and his letter to his sister was written a week after he had talked to young Goolbsy. He mentioned having seen him in a casual way.

Tolbert told Mrs. Goolbsy that Scott Goolbsy was still wearing the immature mustache he wore when he left Macon.

According to information obtained by the family in Birmingham young Goolbsy is believed to have headed northwest from that city.

London, November 8.—(AP)—Those who had hoped for a hearing of the question of the "flapper vote" at the present session of parliament, suffered a disappointment today when the government shelved such awkward problems as reform of the house and "votes for women" at 21. P. M. Baldwin announced that the women's bill would not be introduced until after Christmas.

Parliament assembled quietly for a sitting which lasted until 11 o'clock, and which will be occupied with measures almost entirely of local interest, such as unemployment, insurance, delinquency and other similar subjects. The only measure of interest abroad will be the remaining stages of the film bill.

Many women assembled in the lobby of the House of Commons, and similar subjects. The only measure of interest abroad will be the remaining stages of the film bill.

The matter of the Abyssinian Blue Nile dam, which has been the subject of a long and bitter dispute, was discussed by Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, while observing a certain reserve in replying to questions, was asked to give assurance that the perspective. He virtually accepted the recent statement made by Dr. Wardeh Martin, Abyssinian representative in the league, that the American company reported to have entered into an agreement for the construction of the dam. Dr. Martin had denied that any contract had been signed and gave assurance that the whole thing was in the hands of Great Britain. Sir Austen believed this to be an accurate version of the present position. While he had no official information, he said, he was satisfied that Abyssinia would observe her treaty obligations.

Washington, November 8.—(AP)—Delegates to the international radio conference who were excluded from yesterday among the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Germany for the allocation of votes at future conference, today held a meeting of protest. Czechoslovakia, Argentina, Chile, Brazil and China were among the countries represented and the trend of the discussion was against any attempt by a group of countries to try to dominate the proceedings of the conference. Attention was called, however, to the requirement for unanimity of votes to amend any provision of the radio convention.

Yesterday's reported agreement would give the United States, Italy, Japan, Germany and France six votes each, while British empire would have had eight.

MACON EDITOR KIDNAPED, BEATEN

Macon, Ga., November 8.—(P)—Pat Richards, former Atlanta newspaper man, and now state editor of the Macon News, was kidnaped from the residence of his mother-in-law, Mrs. James H. Smith, 118 English avenue, just before 8 o'clock today, thrown into a blue-colored automobile, terribly beaten by a blackjack in the hands of the kidnappers and hauled away onto a main crossroad town where.

Near the Central of Georgia railway overpass, which is close to fire engine company No. 6, Richards succeeded in freeing himself from his captors and he either fell or jumped from the car.

The kidnappers are said to have stopped their car and attempted to gather up their victim when a woman's scream frightened them away. Two women in another car took Richards from the arms of rescuers and carried him to a local hospital.

At midday city detectives booked Johnny Adams, drug clerk, at the county jail, charged with attempted murder, rioting and assault. Adams denies any part in the attack but his name was given by Richards as one of his assailants. The second man named by Richards has not been located.

Richards gave no motive for the attack but the police said they were investigating that angle. Richards was recently married and he and his wife were visiting Mrs. Richards' mother, Mrs. James H. Smith, who is critically ill, when the kidnapping occurred.

BRAIN OF FRANCE, AUTHOR, LIKENED TO DELICATE CLOCK

Paris, November 8.—(United News).—The brain of Anatole France, the celebrated French author, was like a delicate Louis XV clock—elegant and ornamental—because of its unequalled carving, and possessed of perfectly precise mechanism.

Mrs. Guillaume Louis and Dubrenil Chamberlain, who performed an autopsy on France's body, made this report Tuesday to the Academy of Medicine. The physicians pointed out that the author's brain was admirably formed, its convolutions unusually complicated.

BACON OFFICIAL SHOT; ONE HELD

Alma, Ga., November 8.—(Special).—Jack Haggard, game warden of Bacon county, was shot and killed today by two men, suffering from buckshot wounds, while Dewey Johnson, one of the officials' two alleged assailants, has been lodged in jail. Manning Barlow, who was Johnson's companion, fled following the shooting and had not been apprehended at a late hour Tuesday.

PROFESSOR JAILED AS ILLEGAL VOTER

Princeton, N. J., November 8.—(P)—Professor Edward A. Stephens, treasurer of Hun School of Princeton and a member of the present grand jury, was arrested today on charges of perjury for alleged illegal voting in District No. 1 of the borough of Princeton.

The arrest followed a challenge by Philip Golden, justice of the peace of Princeton, who charged that Professor Stephens was not a resident of the borough, but of the township. The challenge was referred to the board of elections at the voting booth, composed of two democrats and two republicans, who allowed the professor to vote.

Later one of the election judges preferred a charge of perjury and Professor Stephens was arrested by a state trooper and held before Golden. He was released in $1,000 bail to appear before the grand jury.

The chief issue today was the majority vote.
A few weeks ago about 20 students at Princeton university, non-residents of the borough, were denied the right, the borough's objection being upheld by the county board of elections.

Professor Stephens said he told the board today that he is a legal resident of the borough, and that he is only temporarily living at his summer home, just outside the borough.

Music Master Dies.

Chattanooga, November 8.—(P)—Professor J. O. Cook, 59, head of the Cook Conservatory of Music and one of the city's best known citizens, died suddenly this morning. He was a native of Prague.

Mrs. Evelyn Hollowell, who was arrested last summer in Richmond on a charge of sending poisoned candy through the mails, was exonerated yesterday afternoon when the grand jury in federal district court here returned the bill in her case as "not true."

Mrs. Hollowell was charged with mailing candy containing morphine from the Norfolk postoffice to one Rob Thompson, at Aurora, N. C. The box was marked merchandise and was secured by postal authorities when any of the candy had been eaten. Postoffice inspectors claimed they traced Mrs. Hollowell to state hospitals at Wilmington and Marion, where she is alleged to have been employed as a nurse, and finally to Richmond.

2 NEGROES JAILED IN CONNER'S DEATH

Abbeville, Ga., November 8.—(P)—Two negroes, E. J. Ashell and W. B. Hobbs, of Pineview, were arrested here this morning and held for investigation in connection with the death of Preston Conner, 20, whose charred body was found in the tonneau of his burned automobile early Monday morning.

Two bullet wounds were also found on the body and doctors advanced the theory that the man was shot to death and the automobile burned in an effort to hide the crime. Hobbs was believed the motive for the slaying.

The negroes were taken into custody by Sheriff O. L. Smith after it was learned that they were last seen to have seen Conner alive. Conner took the two negroes with him on a trip to Hawkinsville Sunday afternoon and returned with them late Sunday night. He was reported to have had $100 with him when he left with the two negroes but when his body was found his pockets were empty and there was no indication that the money had been burned.

The accused negroes deny the charge of killing the victim and told officers here that they left Conner in Pineview. The body was found about 200 yards from his home.

Conner, the son of John Conner, a tenant farmer on the farm of Dr. J. T. Gammon, in the northwestern part of the county.

RUSSIAN CROWDS IGNORE TROTSKY

Paris, November 8.—(United News).—The latest American tariff note tonight was believed by American and French business and official circles to have cleared the way for a temporary tariff agreement.

The note, delivered to the foreign office by Charles d'Auffresne, French ambassador, has smoothed over the last remaining objections to an agreement which would reestablish the former tariff for American goods, according to authoritative opinion.

American export firms established here have insisted that the French tariff in effect before August 30—when the French signed a favored nation treaty with Germany and Russia—be maintained.

Experts are stating the American reply to the recent French note, which indicated France's willingness to sign an immediate provisional tariff treaty, providing the United States were willing to reduce tariffs in line with proposed French reductions.

The contents of the note are being kept secret. The foreign offices, however, have admitted that the cable reports of the note's contents are "generally correct."

It is expected France will send a memorandum expressing an understanding of America's position and accepting it as a basis for negotiations which would permit signing of a temporary accord next week.

The note, delivered to the foreign office by Charles d'Auffresne, French ambassador, has smoothed over the last remaining objections to an agreement which would reestablish the former tariff for American goods, according to authoritative opinion.

American export firms established here have insisted that the French tariff in effect before August 30—when the French signed a favored nation treaty with Germany and Russia—be maintained.

Experts are stating the American reply to the recent French note, which indicated France's willingness to sign an immediate provisional tariff treaty, providing the United States were willing to reduce tariffs in line with proposed French reductions.

The contents of the note are being kept secret. The foreign offices, however, have admitted that the cable reports of the note's contents are "generally correct."

It is expected France will send a memorandum expressing an understanding of America's position and accepting it as a basis for negotiations which would permit signing of a temporary accord next week.
